How to change language in Windows XP from German to English

When you log on to the pool computers for the first time, you will get a computer profile with German language options including dialogs and menus.

With Regional and Language Options in Control Panel you can change the format Windows uses to display dates, times, currency amounts, the "Help" menu and other Windows menus and dialogs.

You can change them to English by following these instructions.

Instructions to open and change Language Options:

Click the Windows Start button,

Click Systemsteuerung (Control Panel),

Click Datums-, Zeit-, Sprach- und Regionaleinstellungen (Date, Time, Language, and Regional Options),

And then click Regions- und Sprachoptionen (Regional and Language Options).

Click on the Sprachen (Languages) tab. Under "Sprache für Menüs und Dialogfelder" (Language used in menus and dialogs), select the language you want.

You can also change other Regional and Language options here. For example "date", "time", etc.

Additional Notes:

Some programs are already in two languages available, you don't have to change the Regional and Language options for them. For example:

> Mozilla Firefox and Mozilla Thunderbird. You can find them under "Start" and "All programs".

Mozilla Thunderbird - Deutsch

Mozilla Thunderbird - English
