Welcome to the University of Tübingen

Information for Arriving Students

Winter Semester 2019-20 & Summer Semester 2020

Welcome to the University of Tübingen
Compiling this brochure, we have made every effort to ensure gender-neutral language; we apologize for any instances in which we did not succeed.
SEMESTER DATES

The beginning of courses is determined by the date lecture period begins and varies from semester to semester. Once you have enrolled, you will not receive further notification asking you to commence your studies.

FRESHERS’ WEEKS
From 07 October to 18 October, the University of Tübingen holds orientation weeks for all arriving students. You can find an overview of all the freshers’ events in our brochure “Orientierungswochen / Orientation Weeks Wintersemester 2019-20.” You will receive the brochure by post, and you can also access it online. Although not all of the events are compulsory, we strongly advise you to participate. Please also check the university website (page “Studienanfang”) for any changes of times or dates.

FRESHERS’ ACADEMY FOR SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT
The Freshers’ Academy for Sustainable Development is an opportunity to get to know other new students from a wide variety of study programs before you start your studies. In the form of workshops, panel discussions, joint breakfasts, group discussions and an evening program, we will spend a week dealing with sustainable development issues in a university context and beyond. We will discuss local, global, economic, ecological and social challenges and try to develop creative approaches. We are a group of students from different disciplines and semesters; we plan this week with a lot of anticipation and energy. The Freshers’ Academy is a great opportunity to get to know Tübingen and meet new people. To get a better impression of what we do, please visit our homepage.

The Academy takes place at the beginning of October. Further details and information on how to register at:

IMPORTANT:
If you want to continue your studies at the University of Tübingen after your first semester with us, you must re-enroll every semester by the given deadline.

Your re-enrollment is only complete if the necessary payments have been made before the final deadline for re-enrollment.

More information on page 10.

Re-enrollment:  for WiSe: 01 June to 15 August for SuSe: 15 January to 15 February

For more information, go to:
www.uni-tuebingen.de/en/study

WELCOME EVENT FOR ARRIVING STUDENTS – DIES UNIVERSITATIS
The members of the President’s Office traditionally welcome arriving students prior to the official start of semester at an event known as the “Dies Universitatis”. This takes place at the Hörsaalzentrum (HSZ) Morgenstelle, Auf der Morgenstelle 16, Hörsaal (lecture hall) N6. Once the formal part is over, members of the student clubs and societies will be at the foyer for the “Markt der Möglichkeiten” (market of opportunities) to present themselves and their activities.

This winter semester, the “Dies Universitatis” takes place on 17 October, 2019.

Program:
Welcome address: 17:15, HSZ Morgenstelle, Auf der Morgenstelle 16, HS N6
Markt der Möglichkeiten: 18:00, HSZ Morgenstelle, Auf der Morgenstelle 16, Foyer

On 13 October, 2019 a start of semester service will be held at the Stiftskirche (Collegiate Church) at 18:00.

There will be an additional welcoming ceremony for international students during Fresher’s Week, which will take place during a multi-day orientation event. For more information see the brochure “Orientierungswochen / Orientation Weeks.”

CHECK-IN FOR THE START OF STUDIES

What happens after enrollment? You don’t have to organize it all by yourself – this checklist gives you some key starting points.

- PREPARATORY COURSES/PROPAEDEUTICS: Some study programs offer preparatory courses or propaedeutics, which begin prior to the official start of a semester. In the Sciences, for instance, they serve to refresh mathematics skills. In the humanities, in contrast, they may review formerly acquired knowledge of a foreign language. Ask the counselors in your subject if such preparatory courses exist and, if so, whether they are compulsory.

- ORIENTATION EVENTS: Important introductory and orientation events are also announced by the subjects/degree programs on CAMPUS. For more information, log onto the portal and go to the section “Einführungsveranstaltungen zum Studienbeginn”.

- UNIVERSITY LIBRARY AND ZENTRUM FÜR DATENVERARBEITUNG (IT-CENTER): Get information about introductory events at the “Universitätsbibliothek” (University Library) and the Zentrum für Datenverarbeitung (ZDV) or IT-Center, which, among others, offer introductory courses on the different university portals and databases (see p. 9). The first steps on how to use CAMPUS and “alma” are described on page 8 in this brochure.

- EMAIL ACCOUNT AND LOGIN IDS: The university’s IT-Center (ZDV) provides students with university email accounts, which are used to send you important university-related information (e.g., regarding your studies and exams). In order to be able to access the university data network, you also need a login ID and a password. You can find the relevant information on both your email account and login data on the ZDV data sheet, which you received from the “Studierendendekretariat” (Student Administration) along with your enrollment documents.

- STUDENT ID CARD: Your ID card will be sent to you through the post; if this is not the case, please contact student administration without delay. Further information may be found in this brochure on page 8.

- EXAM AND STUDY REGULATIONS: Read your study and exam regulations and the module handbooks of your subject / degree program (available from the examinations office of your faculty or online):
  - www.uni-tuebingen.de/en/3941
  - www.uni-tuebingen.de/en/344

- CLASSES: Find out about classes in your degree program via the online course catalog in CAMPUS (see p. 8).

- TIMETABLE: Set up your own individual timetable for your first semester. You will receive information on how to create a timetable at your introductory and orientation events, which take place in the weeks prior to the start of lectures. For questions and concerns about your timetable, contact the subject advisors at your faculty. For more information as well as links to module handbooks, curriculum, and timetable templates, go to:
  - www.uni-tuebingen.de/en/3941

- BEGINNING OF LECTURES FOR FRESHERS: The lecture period for first semester students begins after introductory events in the different subjects have taken place; you can find the specific dates for your subject in the “Orientierungswochen / Orientation Weeks” brochure.

- GERMAN AS A SECOND LANGUAGE (DaF): International students should register for German language courses as soon as possible; more information on page 22.

- LANGUAGE LEARNING CENTRE AND CAREER SERVICE: Register early for courses with the Language Learning Center and the Studium Professionale (Career Service). For more information, see pages 35 – 38.

- STUDENT FINANCES: Make sure you have the necessary means to finance your studies. If you are a German citizen, you may, for instance, apply for a BAföG allowance. More information on student finances and funding on pages 42 – 44.

- STUDENT ACCOMMODATION: You can apply at the Studierenwerk (Student Services) Tübingen-Hohenheim for a place in student accommodation. In order to secure a spot on the waiting list and accumulate waiting time, you can already do so prior to the beginning of your studies. For more information, see pages 45 and 46.

- ÖPNV (PUBLIC TRANSPORT) – SEMESTER TICKET: Your “Bescheinigung für das Semesterticket,” which you receive with your data sheet and certificate of enrollment, allows you to purchase a discounted travel pass for public transport (e.g. at Tübingen Station or at the tourist information office on Neckarbrücke). The ticket is valid for an entire semester and can be used on trains and buses in and around Tübingen (conditions apply).
You set up your own timetable. In the first few semesters it is usually clear which courses and modules you will have to take. In order to know the formal requirements for your degree program and choose the right classes, you need to familiarize yourself with the module handbook and exam regulations of your subject(s). Exam regulations settle the general course of study and give detailed information on course requirements, exams, and other forms of assessment. They also state which areas of study (courses and modules) are compulsory. The module handbook, in contrast, describes the individual modules and elements that compile your degree, and gives you detailed information about their contents and organization. Many subjects provide students with curricula templates, which you can use to get an overview of what you will have to do to get your degree.

The most important resource you have for creating your timetable is CAMPUS, which contains the course catalog for all university faculties and institutions. Once you have logged in to CAMPUS with your user ID and password, you can register for classes or enter them into your personal digital timetable. The time periods in which you can register for courses are individually determined by the faculties and institutes. However, not all courses require you to register online; the course descriptions on CAMPUS will let you know when to register, how to register, and if you need to register at all. You can also get this information from the organizers (e.g. department, institute, or instructor) of the respective course.

To go your timetable to check if you have registered for a class (AN if you want to take the class), been accepted into it (ZU), or have merely tagged the class for later (V).

The processes described here will be explained in more depth at the orientation event “Neu an der Uni – wie geht’s nun weiter?” (this is about content) and the CAMPUS introductory lecture (this is about the technical aspects). Any subject-specific questions will be addressed at the introductory sessions of your subject(s) or can be answered by the “Studienfachberater” (subject advisors) at your faculty.

Need help with academic terminology? Go to the glossary on page 61 ff.
For several years now, studies in Tübingen have been organized via CAMPUS, an electronic portal which supports students in all university-related activities (e.g. creating timetables, registering for exams). In order to use CAMPUS, you need a user name, i.e. the login ID for your student email account and your password. Student Administration automatically sends you this information by post once you have enrolled at university. In case you lose or forget your password, you can apply for a new one at the “Studierendensekretariat” (Student Administration), where you will have to present your student ID card.

To access CAMPUS, go to:
campus.verwaltung.uni-tuebingen.de

CAMPUS provides students with the following functions:
• Online course and event catalogs
• Personalized schedules and timetables
• Exam registration and cancellation (deadlines apply)*
• Performance records (overview of grades and overall academic performance to date)
• Transcript of Records print list of your completed assessment and coursework*
*relevant to some Bachelor of Science and Master of Science programs and some teaching degree programs (GymPO)

ALMA offers the following functions:
• Registration for, and withdrawal from, exams*
• Performance overview: Overview of your coursework completed to date*
• Transcript of Records print list of your completed assessment and coursework*
• Printout function for certificates (classes taken, BAföG and enrollment certificates)
• Change of address (postal address and telephone number) *relevant to Bachelor of Education, Master of Education, Bachelor of Science Midwifery, Bachelor of Science Nursing Care

Answers to frequently asked questions about the CAMPUS portal at:
campus.verwaltung.uni-tuebingen.de

YOUR STUDENT EMAIL ADDRESS AND STUDENT ID CARD

Once you’re enrolled, Student Administration will send you a data sheet containing your personal access data.

Please make sure you check your student email account regularly; this is in your own best interest.

You must extend and validate your student ID card after each re-enrollment/at the beginning of a new semester. You can do this at the designated card terminals (for locations, see glossary p. 64).

If you lose the access data to your student email account or CAMPUS, you can get new access data at the “Studierendensekretariat” (Student Administration). While this service is free of charge, you will have to show your valid student ID card.

If your card gets lost or stolen, please contact Student Administration immediately, so they can block your card and prevent it from being misused (see contact info on p. 11). If you have technical problems or other questions, please also contact Student Administration.

If you would like the money on your card to be paid out to you in cash, go to the Studierendenwerk (Student Services) Info-Point. You can find their contact information on page 45.

alma

The Campus portal will be completely replaced by the “alma” project by 2020. The new alma portal is already in use for the administration of examinations in the Bachelor and Master of Education programs and the Midwifery and Nursing Science programs. You can find further information on registering for exams and seeing your grades in “alma” on the website of your subject’s examination office. Alma will replace the Campus portal as of summer semester 2020.

To access alma, go to:
www.uni-tuebingen.de/de/139927

For current updates and additional information on the project, visit:
www.uni-tuebingen.de/en/56962
The University of Tübingen’s “Studierendensekretariat” (Student Administration) supports and guides you in the following matters:

RE-ENROLLMENT
In order to continue your studies in Tübingen, you must re-enroll for each new semester within the given re-enrollment period (15 Jan – 15 Feb for the following summer semester and 01 June – 15 Aug for the following winter semester) and pay the relevant fees. See the previous page!

CHANGE OF PROGRAM
If you want to change your subject or degree program, you must register a change of program. You can do so during re-enrollment period.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE
If you are unable to continue your studies due to an internship, illness, or because you have to care for a family member, you may apply for leave of absence. You can do so during re-enrollment period.

TERMINATION OF ENROLLMENT
If you have completed your studies or plan to continue them at another university, you may apply to terminate your enrollment at any given time throughout the semester. Termination of enrollment usually takes place at the end of the semester.

STUDENT ID CARD
If your card is lost or stolen, please contact us without delay, so we can block your card to prevent misuse. Please also contact us if you have technical problems or other questions.

CERTIFICATES
Once you have registered or re-registered, you can access and print out your student records from your student account on ALMA. You can also print out other certificates, including those from previous semesters or certificates required for pension insurance, via the ALMA portal. Please note that such documents will not be sent by post.

EXAMINATION OFFICES

The examination offices (Prüfungsamt) administer students’ assessment. The examinations offices also have other important tasks, such as:

ANSWERING EXAM-RELATED QUESTIONS
The Examination Office is your first port of call for questions about exam regulations or module handbooks. You can also see the “Studienfachberater” (subject advisor) in your department.

EXAM REGISTRATION, CANCELLATION, AND WITHDRAWAL
Most Bachelor and Master programs require you to register for exams online via the alma or CAMPUS portal. The Examination Offices help with any queries, problems, or deadlines! Medicine students, however, will have to register with the “Studiendekanat” (Office of Academic Affairs) at their faculty, which can also help with exam-related questions. In order to register for and be admitted to the “Staatsexamen” (State Exam), they must contact the Landesprüfungsamt Stuttgart.

CERTIFICATES
If you need official (notarized) documentation of your studies (Transcript of Records) to e.g. study abroad, receive BAföG, or apply for an internship, go to the Examination Office of your faculty.

EXTENSION OF DEADLINES
If you are unable to complete assessments within the given deadline due to illness or other unforeseen circumstances, you may apply for an extension at your examination office. Among others, this applies to your “Orientierungsprüfung” (Orientation Examination).

GRADUATION AND DEGREE CERTIFICATES
Once you have completed your studies, the Examination Office will issue your graduation and degree certificates. You may request an English translation if needed. Students who pursue a career in teaching and are not enrolled in one of the B. Ed. programs will receive their certificates from the Landeslehrerprüfungsamt; students of Medicine will receive them from the Landesprüfungsamt Stuttgart.

WELL ADVISED AT EVERY STAGE OF YOUR STUDIES

The University of Tübingen provides students with a variety of counseling services for the time before, during, and after their studies. No matter what stage you are at, we are here to help!

STUDENT COUNSELING SERVICE (ZSB)
You can see the university’s “Zentrale Studienberatung” (Student Counseling Service), short “ZSB,” at any stage of your studies. It guides you during the transition from school to university, helps you organize your studies, and provides individual counseling sessions to promote your academic success. Among others, the ZSB gives advice on:

- Individual study planning and study organisation
- Study methods and skills to help you deal with exams, term papers, and presentations
- Exam preparation (for written and oral exams)
- Changing subjects or degree programs and developing new perspectives
- How to recognize and reconcile your capabilities with given demands in your degree program
- How to solve communication problems with instructors and/or peers
- Counseling in all situations

Further topics on the ZSB website.

The ZSB is a neutral authority; its counseling sessions are confidential.

During the consultations, we will work with you to find suitable solutions for your personal situation.

TEACHING DEGREE STUDENTS

The Tübingen School of Education (TüSE) provides specialized counseling sessions for students studying in one of the teacher training programs. For more details, see page 39.

SUBJECT ADVISORS

Your faculty’s “Studienfachberater” (subject advisors) can help with questions regarding the content and structure of your degree program. They can also issue proof that you have attended counseling sessions (e.g. when you want to change programs) and certificates of recognition (e.g. if you want to have coursework recognized from abroad/another German university). For a full list of subject advisors, see: www.uni-tuebingen.de/de/92

CAREER SERVICE

The Career Service is responsible for questions regarding students’ transition from university into working life and students’ acquisition of transdisciplinary “Schlüssequalifikationen” (key qualifications or key competences).

The Studium Professionale course program is designed to convey transdisciplinary key qualifications and orientating knowledge relevant to both your studies and future working life. The wide range of courses on offer gives you the opportunity to deal with current social topics, to practice academic working techniques, and to gain insights into occupational fields.

From the very start of your studies, it is important for you to make the connection between what you are studying and potential fields of work. With our wide range of advisory services, we provide personal and individual support with your questions regarding career orientation, developing your personal and professional profile, job applications and professional appearance in job interviews. A variety of webinars focusing on different issues round off the spectrum and introduces you to potential employers.

ADVICE FOR DISABLED OR CHRONICALLY ILL STUDENTS

The ZSB (Student Counseling Service) provides disabled or chronically ill students with advice and personal counseling sessions on any issues or concerns they have relating to their condition.

The ZSB also assists with organizational matters, enrollment procedures, decision making processes, and overcoming difficulties throughout your studies. In order to help you complete your studies successfully, we can help – in most cases – adapt deadlines, assessment requirements, or particular working conditions to accommodate your needs.

Your contact person at ZSB is Katrin Motta. You can go talk to her in person, contact her by phone, or email.

ADVICE ON ACADEMIC WRITING

Do you want to know how to define and narrow down your topic? Do you need tips on how to structure your writing or how to find the right words? Do you want to get some objective feedback? Or have you lost the golden thread? Come to the university’s “Diversitätssorientiertes Schreibzentrum” (Diversity-oriented Writing Center)! In a private session, we will work with you to find answers to your specific questions and develop individual solutions.

STUDYING WHEN YOU HAVE A CHILD
Managing your studies and raising a child is a particular challenge. The university and a number of university-affiliated institutions therefore aim to support students with children. The following services provide guidance on how to reconcile university and family and give valuable input for day care and compensating for possible disadvantages.

Family Office
The university’s “Familienbüro” (Family Office) provides counseling sessions and advice on how to achieve a balance between university family-related tasks, such as childcare and nursing relatives.

STUDYING ABROAD

ORIENTATION EVENTS FOR ARRIVING INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

During the orientation weeks from 07 – 18 October and in the weeks prior to the start of the semester, university holds a number of events specifically designed for international students.

The Student Affairs division and the International Office help international students with questions regarding student accommodation, residence permits, and enrollment.

The advisory course “Studieren an der Universität Tübingen” helps arriving students organize student life in Tübingen. Course content includes:

- Information on studying at the University of Tübingen (lectures, seminars, presentations, exams)
- Getting to know campus (library, refectories, institutes)
- Help with enrollment (health insurance, registration with city authorities, opening a bank account)
- Subject-specific counseling at the individual faculties, advice on timetables
- City tour of Tübingen, student life in Tübingen (shopping, going out, sports, eating out, telephone services, …)

For more information on dates and locations, take a look at the brochure “Orientierungswochen / Orientation Weeks Wintersemester 2019-20” and the following links:

STUDENTS HELPING STUDENTS

StudIT

StudIT stands for “Student-Initiative Internationales Tübingen” and is a student-run service provided by the University of Tübingen to help international students get to know their German peers and settle in more easily. StudIT organizes a variety of events, activities, and trips throughout the semester.

- www.studit-tuebingen.de/en/

International Coffee Hour

The student group offers free coffee, tea, biscuits, and the chance to meet fellow (inter)national students and speak German. Every Friday (during semester) from 14:00 – 16:00.

Student Union (Studierendensrat)

Current information and dates for consultation with student representatives can be found on the information boards in the Clubhaus, Wilhelmstraße 30, or at:

GERMAN COURSES AND INTERCULTURAL PROGRAMS

Whether you want to improve your German or learn more about Germany and its people, the center for “Deutsch als Fremdsprache und Interkulturelle Programme” (German as a Second Language and Intercultural Programs) in the Division of International Office offers a number of courses to help make your stay in Tübingen worthwhile.

We hold preparatory courses for international students every March and September. Apart from language lessons, these courses also help you with social, cultural, and academic matters and provide guidance in and around Tübingen and university. Throughout the semester, we also offer an extensive program of language courses and (inter)national cultural seminars, as well as specialized courses and student support on “Studying in German”. Furthermore, our staff provides international students with individual tutoring sessions on academic writing and intercultural consultation. We also offer evening or morning classes for doctoral candidates, Master students, and guests of the university specifically and organize a four-week intensive workshop on German language and culture in August.

For the full program and information on how to register, visit:
www.uni-tuebingen.de/en/1056

... AND FOR GERMAN STUDENTS

German students can join their international peers and participate in courses and workshops on intercultural communication to develop their intercultural competence. Furthermore, the “DaF-Bausteine” program allows you to obtain qualifications in the area “Deutsch als Fremdsprache”. You can also join us as a trainee or tutor and gain additional professional qualifications or practical teaching experience. Taking courses with us, also allows you to get credit points (ECTS) in the field of key competences (Schlüsselqualifikationen). For more information, see pages 37-38.

... FOR GERMAN AND INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

Do you know “TANDEM”? The intercultural language tandem is a program that gives international students who want to improve their German and learn more about Germany and its people the chance to engage with German students, who want to deepen their knowledge of a foreign language and practice with native speakers.

The program matches up partners for language learning in an informal setting:
www.uni-tuebingen.de/en/1088

If you need to give proof of your German language skills to study in Tübingen (“Nachweis der sprachlichen Studierfähigkeit”), you can take the necessary DSH exam with us (DSH = German language test for enrollment of non-German applicants at university level). The exam takes place twice a year, and you can take a preparatory course with us. For more information, visit our website.

We can also advise you on scholarships. In the academic year 2018-19 Tübingen students obtained scholarships to the value of more than two million euros from the DAAD and Baden-Württemberg Stiftung alone.

Prepare for your stay abroad well ahead of time and gather the necessary information from the “Dezernat International Office” website.

The three-module course “Interkulturelle Kompetenzentwicklung” (developing intercultural competences) supports you prior, during, and after your stay abroad. For more information on each of the modules, go to:
www.uni-tuebingen.de/en/112626

INTERNATIONALIZATION AT HOME

While in Tübingen you have many options to work and learn on an international level, make international contacts, gain intercultural experience, and prepare for an intercultural profession. Take part in the activities of the student initiative StudIT (see p. 21), participate in the Buddy Program, join a language tandem, or sit in on the courses of the center for “Deutsch als Fremdsprache und Interkulturelle Programme” (see p. 22). You can also take certified language classes to develop your foreign-language skills and access competence-oriented course content tailored to your degree, occupation, and region of interest.

While some degree programs make it compulsory for students to go abroad, we strongly encourage all of our students to study abroad for a given period of time as international experience is increasingly required for specialized professions. The University of Tübingen provides ideal conditions for international mobility. Students can choose from a range of exchange programs with some 600 universities and colleges in 74 countries! Plus, tuition fees are usually waived on these exchanges.

We also advise you on scholarships. In the academic year 2018-19 Tübingen students obtained scholarships to the value of more than two million euros from the DAAD and Baden-Württemberg Stiftung alone.

THE UNIVERSITY AND ITS FACULTIES

FACULTIES

The basic organizational unit of a university is called a faculty. A faculty represents a teaching and administrative unit of related or interlinked disciplines or subject areas. The faculties are responsible for the organization of research, teaching, and academic studies in their respective fields of academia. Members of a faculty do not only include academic staff and students, but also non-academic staff.

The University of Tübingen has seven faculties, which we will briefly introduce on the following pages.

At the head of a faculty is the “Dekan” (Dean), who is responsible for the development of the faculty as a whole. The Dean signs the certificate of habilitation as well as the doctoral degree certificate. In Germany with the certificate of habilitation the right to lecture (venia legendi, Lehrbefähigung) is awarded.

The faculty is run by the “Fakultätsvorstand” (faculty board). The Dean and the “Pradekane” (Vice-Deans), including a Vice-Dean for Academic Affairs, are also members of the faculty board. These people are the management of the Dean’s Office, which oversees the administration of the faculty. If you as a student have a complaint, you are advised to take it to the Vice-Dean of Academic Affairs, the designated official for academic teaching. The “Fakultätsrat” (faculty council) is another statutory body. Its task is to advise the faculty board. And there are some decisions which cannot be made without the approval of the faculty council. They include things like structural and development plans for the faculty, the creation, dissolution, or alteration of faculty institutions, as well as approval of the faculty’s study and exam regulations. The faculty council members include all the members of the faculty board, the heads of the faculty’s academic institutions, and representatives of non-professorial academic staff and of the students.

CENTER OF ISLAMIC THEOLOGY

The “Zentrum für Islamische Theologie” (ZITh; Center of Islamic Theology) is the only institution at the University of Tübingen that is not part of a faculty but at which full degree programs can be completed.

The ZITh was founded in 2011 and is one of the university’s central institutions. The first classes were offered in the wintersemester 2011-2012 in the Islamic Theology Bachelor program. Today the ZITh comprises seven chairs and offers the following degree programs: Islamic Religious Education (Bachelor, Master of Education), Islamic Theology in a European Context, and Practical Islamic Theology for Chaplaincy and Social Work. Currently, approximately 220 students are enrolled at the ZITh. More information on studying at the ZITh, course catalogs, the syllabus, and module handbooks are available at:

FACULTY OF PROTESTANT THEOLOGY

The study of Protestant Theology offers a wide and in-depth understanding of Christian faith in its protestant form. The basic subjects Old and New Testament, History of the Church, Studying Systematic Theology, and Practical Theology allows you to gain a combined insight into historical, philosophical, empirical, and theological perspectives. There are also many links to other disciplines. The study of Protestant Theology is particularly interesting to those students who plan to join the clergy or to become teachers of Religious instruction. However, the programs also offers a range of other professional options.

The “Evangelisch-Theologische Fakultät” (Faculty of Protestant Theology) at the University of Tübingen is one of Germany’s largest and most respected faculties in the field. Students can chose from a variety of various degree programs (e.g. a program for future vicars, diploma programs, a B. Ed.) or combine the study of Protestant Theology (minor subject) with different Bachelor and Master programs. The faculty also offers a Bachelor and Master program in Jewish Studies in collaboration with the Faculty of Humanities. The faculty’s core research areas include Biblical Archaeology, Jewish Studies, Ethics, Late Middle Ages and Reformation, Hermeneutics and Dialogue of Cultures, as well as Preaching.

The Faculty of Protestant Theology strives to work closely together with both the Faculty of Catholic Theology and the Center of Islamic Theology. The interdisciplinary cooperation with other subjects (including Archaeology and Psychology, History and Philosophy) is particularly important to us. Last but not least, Tübingen has one of the largest theological libraries, which allows students to study in a pleasant work environment. The nearby university library with its specialist information service (FID) and other libraries in Tübingen make it easy to find all the relevant literature quickly.

FACULTY OF CATHOLIC THEOLOGY

The University of Tübingen’s “Katholisch-Theologische Fakultät” (Faculty of Catholic Theology) promotes academic debate within the Christian faith in both research and teaching, investigates how it developed in its Catholic form, and discusses its responsibilities in the face of current challenges. The cooperation between our 15 chairs reflects the complexity of Theology as a branch of academia, which is divided into four disciplines:

1. Biblical Theology: Biblical introduction and contemporary history; Exegesis of the Old and New Testaments
2. Historical Theology: History of the Early Church/Patristics (Theology of the Church Fathers)/Christian Archaeology; Medieval and Modern History of the Church
3. Systematic Theology: Basic Theological Philosophical Questions; Fundamental Theology; Dogma, History of Dogma and Ecumenical Theology; Theological Ethics/Moral Theology; Theological Ethics/Social Ethics
4. Practical Theology: Liturgy; Religious Teaching/Catechism; Religious Adult Education; Practical Theology/Pastoral Theology; Ecclesiastical Law

Two of our faculty’s special academic features include the Institute of Ecumenical and Inter-religious Research and a share in the Center for Ethics in the Science and Humanities. In our faculty it is standard to cooperate with other faculties. The faculty’s profile is ecumenical, which means we strive towards a dialogue between Christian churches and different religions.

Our research and teaching both aims to train future researchers (PhD program) and educate students in various degree programs at the basic academic levels for the following professions:

1. Full theological degree (Magister/Magistra theologiae): Pastoral care (priest, pastoral counselor)
2. Bachelor/Master of Education: School (Religious Instruction in combination with 1 – 2 other school subjects)
3. Bachelor of Arts: via dual competence (Theology and another subject) professions at the interface of religion, theology, church, and society (business, management, media, culture)

FACULTY OF LAW

The University of Tübingen’s “Juristische Fakultät” (Faculty of Law) is located in the Neue Aula, the university’s main building. With some 2,400 students and 21 professors, it has been well known all over Germany for 500 years. Solid legal studies and strongly practice-oriented, in-depth training form the basis for a comprehensive degree and a successful professional career.

With its worldwide connections, the Faculty of Law offers excellent conditions for establishing international contacts. In order to test the skills and knowledge acquired in lectures, exercises and case studies in a practical and realistic manner, students have the opportunity to participate in five well-respected moot courts, i.e. mock court cases in which teams from various – mostly international – universities compete against one another. Our proximity to the state capital Stuttgart gives our students plenty of opportunities to work closely with professionals; the state’s central authorities and courts are located in Stuttgart, as are many respected legal firms. Our faculty library – the “Juristisches Seminar” – provides varied work spaces for individual and group study, as well as a comprehensive collection of print and electronic literature. Its generous opening hours make for a good working environment. Via our own Computer Center, the Faculty of Law is able to offer high-quality IT infrastructure, library and technical support, as well as training in all important databases, which are also accessible remotely, and in researching the literature.

In addition, the faculty supports its students through the “learn better” program with a wide range of offers such as an “exam clinic,” a learning group exchange, a mentoring program and the possibility of reserving group work rooms electronically.

In research, too, the University of Tübingen Faculty of Law is highly ranked. From the historical foundations of the law, to international law, to areas such as international commercial law, international civil process law, international criminal law and criminology – Tübingen is making important contributions. Furthermore, many law professors across Germany trained in Tübingen.
The University and its Faculties

The “Philosophische Fakultät” (Faculty of Humanities) includes subjects with a very long tradition at the University of Tübingen, and it was one of the founding faculties when the university was established in 1477. In order to emphasize the unity of the various disciplines, the faculty was restored to its original form in 2010.

When compared on an international level, the faculty offers an exceptionally broad spectrum of subjects, which includes more than 60 degree programs with a main focus on Languages and Literature, Asian and Middle Eastern Studies, Archaeology and Classics, History and Philosophy. Our well-equipped institute libraries and the diverse study and research options available to students attract many applicants and guest researchers from across Germany and around the world. A number of partnership agreements with institutions of higher education around the globe enable Tübingen students to gain international experience or to complete part of their studies abroad.

The faculty is organized into five departments. Student related matters, such as student administration, student advice, and the organization of student-specific interests, however, are overseen by the respective institutes, which also host introductory events for freshers.

Our institutes are spread across a number of locations around Tübingen. For a full list of addresses and further details, visit our website. You may also go to the Dean's Office for general inquiries (Dean: Professor Dr. Ingo B. Autenrieth; Vice-Dean for Academic Affairs: Professor Dr. Stephan Zipfel; further Dean's Office representatives on the website).

In 2013, the “Mathematisch-Naturwissenschaftliche Fakultät” (Faculty of Science), in short MNF, celebrated its 150th anniversary; it was the first modern scientific faculty in Germany. At the time of its foundation, the faculty included the subjects Mathematics and Astronomy, Physics, Geology and Mineralogy, Chemistry, Physiological Chemistry, Botany and Zoology. In its current form, it has existed since October 2010. Our departments – Biology, Chemistry, Geoscience, Informatics, Mathematics, Pharmacy/Biochemistry, Physics, and Psychology – work closely together.

The faculty is also part of a close-knit research network across university. We offer students and academics a mix of traditional and long-standing interdisciplinary subjects (e.g. Biochemistry, Bioinformatics, Geoeconomics, Cognition Science, and School Psychology). We also teach state-of-the-art subjects that are oriented towards current technical and social challenges; they include: Applied Environmental Geosciences, Media Informatics, Medical Technologies, Machine Learning, Nanoscience, Pharmaceutical Sciences and Technologies, and Environmental Science.

As of wintersemester 2017-2018, more than 9,800 students were enrolled in over 50 degree programs of our extensive course content on offer. Ensuring to maintain its diverse subject-range, the Faculty of Science puts particular emphasis on socially relevant topics regarding life sciences and environmental research.

Our core research areas include: Pharmaceuticals Research, Astrophysics and Elementary Particle Physics, Microbiology, Integrative Neuroscience, Scientific Archaeology, Plant Molecular Biology, Environmental and Geosciences, Quantum Physics, and Cell Biology. After Medicine, the faculty is the university’s second-biggest earner of third-party funding, attracting more than 51 million euro annually. We are involved in the two new excellence clusters, “Control of microorganisms to combat infections” and “Machine Learning” as well as nine collaborative research centers (SFB and SFB-TR) and three research training groups.

We currently employ 197 professors, 21 assistant professors and instructors, and approximately 1,500 further staff.

The “Wirtschafts- und Sozialwissenschaftliche Fakultät” (Faculty of Economics and Social Sciences) includes six subjects, 60 professors, and some 5,000 students – 500 of whom are internationals. We also provide programs for the approximately 4,000 teaching-degree students at the University of Tübingen. The Faculty is divided into the Department of Social Sciences (Institutes of Historical and Cultural Anthropology, Education Sciences, Hector Institute of Education Science, Politics, Sociology, and Sports Sciences), and the Department of Economics. We offer more than 30 degree programs.

The Faculty is located at different places across Tübingen – from the castle (Historical and Cultural Anthropology), to Europastrasse (Education Science), the old town (Education), and the main campus (Sociology, Politics, Economics), to Lustnau (Sports Sciences).

The Dean of Economics and Social Sciences is Professor Josef Schmid. Key contacts for students are the faculty’s Vice-Deans of Academic Affairs, Professor Jörg Strübing (Department of Social Sciences) and Professor Georg Wamser (Department of Economics). A total of seven faculty student councils represent the interests of students on the faculty’s decision-making committees, as well as providing a number of information events for new students.

INSTITUTIONS FOR EVERYONE

THE UNIVERSITY LIBRARY – ONE FOR ALL

The “Universitätsbibliothek” (University Library), short UB, supplies the entire university with relevant information. It does so together with around 50 department and institute libraries. The majority of the 3.7 million printed materials are circulating items; the UB’s electronic resources (approx. 300,000 e-books, e-journals, and databases) are usually also accessible on the go and from home.

Whether you are looking for resources or want to get an overview of the UB’s services, the UB website is the starting point for all your searches. If you prefer to talk to someone in person, the info desks in the library are the right place to go. In addition, the UB staff also offer library tours and info sessions on a variety of subjects.

UB – YOUR STUDY AND WORKPLACE

The UB on Wilhelmstraße is comprised of four inter-connected buildings. The guide-system on our digital info terminals helps you orientate yourself and find your way around. There are over 1,500 study spaces available to you – whether you prefer to study by yourself or in a group. Go to the “Seatfinder” to check for available seats:

http://vergil.uni-tuebingen.de/seatfinder/seatfinder.html

All buildings have free Wi-Fi, and there are plenty of computers, copying machines, printers, scanners, smartboards, displays, and whiteboards for you to use. The UB also runs the E-Learning Support Center for electronically supported teaching at Brechtbau (Wilhelmstraße 50) and, in cooperation with the ZDV, the E-Learning Portal.

ORIENTATION EVENTS ON HOW TO USE THE UB

During the first weeks of semester, our staff offer daily library tours and introductions into how to use UB services. Registration forms for introductory courses are available on our website.

During the semester, the UB also offers training sessions on different subjects. For times and topics see our website and our “Infoblatt 16”, which is available at the library information desk. The E-Learning course “Informationskompetenz Online,” for instance, teaches you the basic principles of finding, accessing, and managing (secondary) sources; you also receive 4 ECTS for the course. MAIN BUILDING

The UB main building is located opposite Mensa Wilhelmstraße. On the ground floor, there is a large lounge area for students to study and talk, as well as a cafeteria. The info screen at the central wall of the foyer keeps students up-to-date about services and current events at UB.

The first floor houses the library’s central information desk and various study rooms with plenty of space for research, individual study, and group work. Anything related to borrowing circulating library items such as books and other media happens at the “Ausleihzentrum” behind the revolving glass door. It not only includes a lounge area and communal workspace, but also holds the current collection of course books and the “Lern+Zentrum,” where students can get advice from the “Schreibzentrum” (Writing Center) or the “Graduiertenakademie” (Graduate Academy) among others.

AMMERBAU/”ALTE WASCHHALLE”

Walk past the lending desk and across the bridge to go to Ammerbau; there you will find reading space for silent study, a “Präsenzbestand” of (non-circulating) specialist literature, and a collection of more than 500,000 circulating items. Library services also include computer pools and bookable study rooms that are not only ideal for group work, but also come with technical equipment (smart-, whiteboards). From Ammerbau, a second bridge leads to the “Alte Waschhalle” (university’s former laundry hall), where you can find more silent study space, as well as an extensive collection of circulating journals.

BONATZBAU

Inside the UB’s striking old building, the Bonatzbau, the historic “Lesesaal” (reading room) invites you to work in a particularly quiet atmosphere. In the left wing of the building, the UB commonly gives courses and training sessions (library use, e-media, reference management programs, etc.). The right wing, in contrast, holds the “Handschriftenlesesaal,” a reading room reserved for the study of historic prints, manuscripts, and other archived documents. The graphic collection of the Institute of Art History and the University Archive are on the first floor.

UNIVERSITY ARCHIVE

The University Archive is the university’s tangible memory and the first port of call for questions regarding its history. The archive is open to everyone interested in the university’s past, and our staff are happy to provide visitors with advice, information, and source texts. In order to prepare for your visit, we recommend you contact us prior to it by phone or via email.

CAMPUS OF NATURAL SCIENCES

You can find mathematical and scientific literature (excepting Medicine and Geoscience) and related course books in the BEREICHSBIBLIOTHEK NATURWISSENSCHAFTEN. Plenty of study space allows you to either work by yourself or in a group; computers are also available.

The adjoining PCB-Library for Pharmacy, Chemistry, and Biology also includes silent study areas, group rooms, special computer pools, and a training room. The “Lernzentrum Naturwissenschaften” (Learning-Center Natural Sciences) is currently being moved to the refectory building opposite the cafeteria.

ZDV – IT FOR THE WHOLE UNIVERSITY

The "Zentrum für Datenverarbeitung" (ZDV) is the university’s IT and Data Processing Center. It provides students, faculties, and central institutions with IT infrastructure and IT services, which are the basis for successful learning, teaching, and research at the University of Tübingen.

From enrollment, to borrowing books, to final exams – a student’s life is partly conducted in data networks. After enrollment, students receive an electronic identity, which gives them access to IT services across university and to a high-performance network comprising more than 14,000 computers. Free Wi-Fi is available to university members in almost all university buildings.

University members may contact each other via their university email addresses. The ZDV also manages university websites and technical platforms and develops apps which allow you to access digital content more easily (see p. 9).

CAMPUS – the portal for studies and teaching – is more than just an online course catalog. Managing your studies, registering for courses, and finding lecture halls are just some of the key functions, which allow you to effectively organize your studies (see p. 8). From summer semester 2020, the CAMPUS portal will be replaced by the alma portal.

Together with the University Library, the ZDV runs the university’s e-learning course platforms that are used to make teaching materials accessible to students; among others, they include discussion forums, wikis, and blogs for course participants. The ZDV also runs the Tübinger Internet multimedia server “timms,” which allows students to access more than 4,000 hours of video recordings from lectures and courses.

The ZDV offers a wide range of IT courses on current topics, which can be booked online.

In addition to basic counseling and training sessions, the Genius Bar also helps with notebooks and Wi-Fi access; the service is available both at the ZDV and the UB. The computer pools at Wilhelmstraße 106 and in Building C (Morgenstelle campus) allow you to use modern terminals equipped with extensive and comprehensive software.

Student IT Services are located at: Wächterstraße 76 (training rooms and user administration) and Wilhelmstraße 106 (computer-pool room).

LANGUAGE LEARNING CENTRE

The “Fremdsprachenzentrum” (Language Learning Centre) at the University of Tübingen offers language courses at beginner and advanced levels. Courses are primarily concerned with specialist language training, meaning courses address subject- or degree-specific language requirements, qualify for a stay or internship abroad, or prepare for an academic career. We teach in a practice-oriented way to improve students’ professional profile. While some degree programs require you to take courses with the Language Learning Centre, you can also register for courses as part of your “Schlüsselqualifikationen” (key competences).

We currently teach the following languages: Arabic, English, French, Italian, Japanese, Catalan, Russian, Swedish, and Spanish. Levels include beginners to specialist language courses at near-native speaker level, i.e. UNIcert I to UNIcert IV or A1 to C2 of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages.

General language examples include: Grammar and Communication, Table Ronde, Japanese V. Examples of specialist language include: Ethique des sciences et technologies, Comprensione ed espressione orale, Academic Reading and Writing, and Global Issues and Ethics.

You can also obtain country- or university-specific certificates (UNIcert) with us. Sustainability and ethics courses for English, French, and Spanish are recognized in the certificate “Stadium Decologium.” Some language courses are also recognized for the certificate “Interkulturelles Denken und Handeln.”

The university-specific UNIcert training allows students to:
- Prepare for studying in the target language
- Prepare for working with the target language in international and multilingual contexts
- Use the target language in intercultural and sociocultural contexts
- Gain in-depth knowledge in given areas of competence and earn a multilingual certificate

The university’s “Diversitätsorientierte Schreibzentrum” (Diversity-oriented Writing Center) is your first port of call for questions on academic writing. From workshops to individual tutoring sessions and writing events, we are here to help and support you in writing academic texts.

In our practice-oriented workshops, you receive the necessary tools to successfully navigate your research and manage your written work. We provide a range of services that will help you during all stages of the writing process, and we will work with you to find answers to your specific questions and to find individual solutions.

We regularly organize writing sessions throughout the semester, during which you get a chance to focus on your writing, work with fellow students, and enjoy writing in a friendly atmosphere. Our staff are on hand and happy to answer your questions. The biggest event of this kind is our annual “Lange Nacht der aufgeschobenen Hausarbeiten” (Long Night Against Procrastination), which has always been in March ever since we first launched the event in 2011. Hundreds of Tübingen students participate each year.

CAREER SERVICE

The university’s Career Service is the interface between your studies, practical experience and further career; it unites three central areas: Studium Professionale (courses on transdisciplinary key competences and orientation knowledge), advice and coaching as well as contacts with potential employers.

The Service Learning courses promote and support students’ social commitment during their studies.

From day one of your studies, you can take advantage of our counseling services regarding careers orientation, internships and job interviews. In order to put you in touch with potential employers, we also organize the Career Day and Online Talk and provide students with an online job and internship market, the so called “Praxisportal”.

TRANSDISCIPLINARY KEY COMPETENCES

As part of your studies you will acquire both specialist and methodological competence as well as transdisciplinary key competences. The latter are the so called “Schlüsselqualifikationen” and normally comprise 21 of the 180 ECTS credit points of your Bachelor’s degree program. Check the specific regulations for your degree program in the examination regulations or by asking your subject advisor or student representatives council. For all first-year students, this means that from their first semester onwards they should also register for key competence as well as for classes in their chosen subject! As a rule of thumb, you should obtain about 30 ECTS per semester. Of those 3–4 ECTS credits should be for your transdisciplinary key competence courses.

By attending Studium Professionale courses, you can acquire these key competences and the corresponding ECTS points throughout your studies. You can also take courses run by the Language Learning Center (Fremdsprachenzentrum, F52) and the IT Center (Zentrum für Datenverarbeitung, ZDV). It is also possible to have internships or tutoring activities in the field of German as a Foreign Language (DaF) credited as key competences. You may additionally find relevant courses for key competences within your degree program or run by the faculties as well as other institutions. The courses of the Studium Professionale and other institutions may be found in the semester program on our website.

For an overview of subject-related services on academic writing at university, see: www.uni-tuebingen.de/en/28680

WHAT IS THE STUDIUM PROFESSIONALE?

The Studium Professionale is the program of interdisciplinary courses in which you can obtain key competences. The range includes the following: academic work methods, communication at the university and in the workplace, creativity and preparing for a profession. In addition, the Studium Professionale offers a wide range of classes in the interdisciplinary field “Society, Responsibility, Sustainability and the Digital World.” You can choose your course freely and according to your specific interests.

Every semester, courses are offered both during the semester (block courses or at weekends) and during the semester break.

WHICH COURSES TO TAKE AT THE START OF YOUR STUDIES?

The Career Service offers a compact program exclusively for first-year Bachelor’s degree students. You did written assignments at school. But what are the requirements for university-standard assignments? What learning techniques are there to ensure you don’t forget everything you learnt at the end of the semester? How can I get organised so as to achieve my study goals? We therefore recommend courses that help you to learn to study. In the program all such courses for first-year students are marked recommended and are offered every semester. So if the course is already full in one semester, you will have another chance in the next!

The Studium Professionale course schedule, details on how to register, our team, our consultation hours and office hours, can be found on our website.

FOR TEACHING-DEGREE STUDENTS

TÜBINGEN SCHOOL OF EDUCATION (TÜSE)

If you have decided to do a teacher education program at the University of Tübingen, the Tübingen School of Education (TÜSE) is your first port of call for all questions, information, and advice on teacher education programs.

The establishment of the Tübingen School of Education represents a new structure for teacher training at the University of Tübingen; Teacher training has been systematically expanded and qualitatively considerably enhanced. The following six areas define TÜSE’s core areas:

ADVICE FOR TEACHING-DEGREE STUDENTS

The TÜSE offers individual counseling sessions, helpful info-material, and career advice (project ProfiL) for teaching degree students; they also organize information events on a regular basis.

PROFESSIONSBEZUG – PREPARING FOR EMPLOYMENT

This area includes specialized counseling services and additional training programs (e.g. internships, ServiceLearning) for students; it aims to connect the different phases of teacher education more thoroughly and efficiently (project Portfolio).

RESEARCH

TÜSE promotes and connects high-ranking subject-specific didactics, education science, and research (relevant to schools and teaching) to develop, among others, relevant competences.

DO I WANT TO DO A SPECIALIST CERTIFICATE?
The “Optionalen individuellen Studien” as part of the Studium Professionale gives you the opportunity to add specialist skills to your résumé. Parallel to your subject studies, you can take specific seminars to obtain a certificate in fields as varied as “Rhetoric and Communication,” “Business & Management,” “Studium Oecologicum” (see p. 53) or “Social Commitment.” Further information on the certificates and the people to contact can be found at:

WHY CONSULTING AND COACHING FOR LAUNCHING A CAREER?

With consulting and coaching we help you to answer questions that you may ask yourself during your studies: What can I do with this degree? Are my application documents OK? How do I present myself convincingly and professionally? Whether it’s during our consultation hours, in individual or group formats or in webinars, we will give you a warm welcome and look forward to your use of our services, which are free of charge up to six months after the end of your studies. We recommend that you start thinking about your later career at the beginning of your studies. It is advisable to arrange a consultation with us in the middle of your studies if you would like to benefit from our services.

PROMOTION OF JUNIOR RESEARCHERS

We work towards expanding our support system for young academics and researchers, e.g. in the form of financial support, awards, and the Tübingen “Nachwuchsfoerderprogramm” (development program for young researchers).

INCLUSION, DIVERSITY, HETEROGENEITY

We offer special courses on inclusion, diversity, and heterogeneity (e.g. in the M. Ed. program), plan related research projects, and take diversity-related measures within academic studies.

INTERNATIONAL

Ties with universities and Schools of Education abroad are being developed and an International Education Week (Summer School 2019: July 28th to August 4th) is going to take part regularly. Internationalization ‘at home’ is being boosted in various projects.

STUDY OF EDUCATIONAL SCIENCES (BWS)
An important part of the new Bachelor-Master structure of teaching degrees for Gymnasium (high school) is the “Bildungswissenschaftliches Studium” (Study of educational sciences – BWS). It prepares students for scientifically-based and professional work in the classroom and at school as a whole, and is predominantly integrated into the M. Ed. program. During their undergraduate studies, students familiarize themselves with the basic concepts of and problems in education. By providing students academic guidance well into their practical training as well as after their “stint” at school, we enable them to reflect on their position and experience within the school context from a teacher’s point of view and to validate their choice of profession.

During their postgraduate studies, students gain a deeper understanding of education in terms of pedagogy, inclusion, diversity, heterogeneity, empirical research. In an additional module, students may choose their own focus of study depending on their individual preferences and interests. During an internship, they also get to put their theoretical knowledge into practice and gain professional experience. All courses in the Study of educational sciences are listed in CAMPUS (section “Erweiterte Angebote für Lehramtsstudierende”). Students must register online.

STUDENT FINANCES

Semester fees, books, excursions, rent, nightlife – student life is expensive. Hence, we offer a number of counseling and advice services to help you with your finances.

BAFÖG, THE GERMAN STUDENT ALLOWANCE

German students may be eligible for the student allowance “BAföG.” The staff at the “Amt für Ausbildungsförderung” (Office for Educational Support) of the Studierendenwerk Tübingen-Hohenheim can help with inquiries regarding application. The Studierendenwerk Tübingen-Hohenheim is also responsible for administering Bafög to German students studying in Turkey and parts of Asia.

JOBS

You would like to earn some extra money and are looking for a part-time job? If so, keep in mind that students are only allowed to work a maximum of twenty hours per week for insurance- and tax-related reasons.

The “Agentur für Arbeit” (German Employment Agency) supports students in their search for a suitable job. If you wish, you can sign up as a potential candidate for part-time jobs and have your name put down on a list; you may either do this at the reception desk or via e-mail. Your name will then be included into the agency’s digital distribution list, and you will receive job notifications on the positions available (e.g. part-time, mini-jobs, holiday jobs). Unfortunately, it is not possible to preselect job offers for you based on your personal preferences.

THE DEUTSCHLANDSTIPENDIUM AT THE UNIVERSITY OF TÜBINGEN

The “Deutschlandstipendium” is a national fellowship program funded by private sponsors and the Federal Republic of Germany. Particularly talented and high-achieving students can apply for financial support of 300€ per month. The number of annual scholarships available to students depends on the amount of funding the university is able to acquire from private sponsors. In the summer semester 2019, the University of Tübingen awarded 140 scholarships. Students can apply for a “Deutschlandstipendium” each summer semester; successful applicants will receive funding over the course of one year starting April.

The maximum period of funding is linked (Regelstudiumzeit) to the number of semesters prescribed for the completion of a course and can only be extended beyond said period in justified cases. Students must apply for an extension in writing and provide sufficient reason for exceeding the prescribed maximum duration of their Deutschlandstipendium. You can only apply for funding in the degree program you applied for or are currently enrolled in.

The scholarship is paid out in monthly rates and need not be repaid; recipients may apply for an extension. The Deutschlandstipendium is awarded independent of income and can be combined with a BAföG allowance.

For more information on the eligibility criteria, formal requirements, and deadlines for application at the University of Tübingen, go to:

www.uni-tuebingen.de/en/21268

Further information on the Deutschlandstipendium is also available at the German Ministry of Education and Research website:

FINDING A ROOM

Beginning your studies in a new town initially means you have to get a roof over your head. In search of the right place, you can either apply for student accommodation with one of the Tübingen student housing organizations or search the private housing market. Whichever you prefer, you should do it as early as possible to make sure you have a place to stay when the semester starts. The Tübingen “Studierendenwerk” (Student Services) is one of the main providers of student housing in town.

STUDIERENDENWERK TÜBINGEN-HOHENHEIM

The Studierendenwerk Tübingen-Hohenheim offers some 3,700 housing units in Tübingen, including in the student village Waldhäuser Ost with around 1,700 units. For more information on the individual student residences and online application forms, see the Studierendenwerk website.

Whether you are looking to enjoy a three-course meal or a quick coffee break, student services offers a wide range of snacks and foods. Of course, the university’s “Mensen” (refectories) and cafeterias also cater to vegetarians and vegans. Outside opening hours, you can buy snacks at one of the various vending machines on campus. Your student ID card allows for cashless payments, and if you have registered for “Autoload,” you can even get a top-up, i.e. transfer money onto your card, at the check-out. Alternatively, use transfer-terminals where you can upload money from your bank account to your student ID card.

There are a number of refectories located both on and off campus. The “Mensa Prinz Karl”, one of the oldest student canteens in Germany, is located in a historic building in the heart of Tübingen’s old town and is certainly worth a visit. If you spend most of your day at the scientific institutes, the refectory/cafeteria “Auf der Morgenstelle” and the cafeteria “Hörsaalzentrum” are your go-to places for food and drink. The canteen on Wilhelmstrasse is under renovation for four years starting in summer 2019; therefore a temporary canteen has been set up in the Shedhalle in Schlachthausstrasse (behind the Brechtbau). If you like, you can get your coffee after lunch in the Cafeteria Geiwi in the Brechtbau. Warm snacks are available at the Clubhaus, the cafeteria directly on Wilhelmstrasse (opposite the Neue Aula). Every Thursday, the Clubhaus hosts the legendary Clubhaus Parties.

The local newspaper, the “Schwäbisches Tagblatt,” advertises for rooms and apartments every Wednesday and Saturday:

A GROWLING STOMACH DISTRACTS FROM LEARNING – RECTORIES AND CAFETERIAS

Whether you are looking to enjoy a three-course meal or a quick coffee break, student services offers a wide range of snacks and foods. Of course, the university’s “Mensen” (refectories) and cafeterias also cater to vegetarians and vegans. Outside opening hours, you can buy snacks at one of the various vending machines on campus. Your student ID card allows for cashless payments, and if you have registered for “Autoload,” you can even get a top-up, i.e. transfer money onto your card, at the check-out. Alternatively, use transfer-terminals where you can upload money from your bank account to your student ID card.

There are a number of refectories located both on and off campus. The “Mensa Prinz Karl”, one of the oldest student canteens in Germany, is located in a historic building in the heart of Tübingen’s old town and is certainly worth a visit. If you spend most of your day at the scientific institutes, the refectory/cafeteria “Auf der Morgenstelle” and the cafeteria “Hörsaalzentrum” are your go-to places for food and drink. The canteen on Wilhelmstrasse is under renovation for four years starting in summer 2019; therefore a temporary canteen has been set up in the Shedhalle in Schlachthausstrasse (behind the Brechtbau). If you like, you can get your coffee after lunch in the Cafeteria Geiwi in the Brechtbau. Warm snacks are available at the Clubhaus, the cafeteria directly on Wilhelmstrasse (opposite the Neue Aula). Every Thursday, the Clubhaus hosts the legendary Clubhaus Parties.

Fancy something different? There are numerous restaurants, takeaways, snack bars, and pubs on campus and in the old town.
GETTING AROUND TÜBINGEN – DAY AND NIGHT

Students can purchase a “Semesterticket” (student travel pass) at a discounted rate to use public transport in and around Tübingen. The ticket is valid for the duration of six months and covers the entire “naldo” (Neckar-Alb-Donau) area. It is valid in all trains and buses in the districts of Tübingen, Reutlingen, Zollernalbkreis, and Sigmaringen. In order to purchase the ticket, you will need to show your “Bescheinigung für das Semesterticket,” which you receive with your data sheet (Leporello) and certificate of enrollment before the start of semester.

If you chose not to buy a Semesterticket, you can still use public transport in the entire naldo area and travel free of charge during certain off-peak times (after 19:00 on workdays, all day on weekends and public holidays). Your Student ID card and certificate of enrollment function as your ticket; make sure both have a naldo logo on them, and you carry them with you during your travels as you will need to present them to the conductor.

If you commute from the Stuttgart area or often travel from Tübingen to Stuttgart, a connecting “Anschlussticket” from the VVS (Stuttgart Region Transport Authority) is the right choice for you. The ticket is valid for a full semester and also allows you to use public transport in the Stuttgart area. Student tickets are available at DB (Deutsche Bahn) Travel Centers, public transport sales points (Tübingen and Reutlingen), at Omnibus Graß (Rottenburg), and the Uni Shop at Wilhelmstraße. Connecting tickets can only be purchased at DB Travel Centers and SSB Customer Centers in the VVS area. Tickets are only valid in connection with a valid Student ID.

For more information and current prices, go to:

CITY BUS
You can easily get around Tübingen by bus. In most parts of town, buses run at least every 30 minutes; in some busy areas, such as Waldhauser Ost, buses run up to 10 times per hour. At night, the “Nachtbus” (night bus) will get you home safely. Students with a Semesterticket (student travel pass) can use the city bus free of additional charge.

More information at:

CAR SHARING
If you don’t have a car but would like to use one every now and then, you can register for car sharing. The Tübingen initiative “teilAuto” has a fleet of vehicles ranging from small cars to vans and offers special student discounts. For more information on general procedures, registration, vehicles, and costs, visit the “teilAuto” website.

FOR NIGHT OWLS – THE TÜBINGEN NIGHT BUS

The Tübingen “Nachtbus” (night bus) runs from 00:00 – 03:00 in the morning and covers almost all parts of town; on Christmas and New Year’s Eve, however, the bus runs on a special timetable. Its central stop is the bus station opposite Tübingen railway station, but you can also catch the night bus at Nonnenhaus/Wilhelmsstraße. The service operates on a daily basis and buses run every hour. Some residential areas even encompass two bus routes, which means there is a service every 30 minutes.

The night bus costs the same as all city buses. Students with a travel pass, including the naldo Semesterticket, can use the bus free of charge. Students without a travel pass go free of charge on weekdays (after 19:00), weekends (all day), and public holidays given they can show the relevant enrollment certificate (with naldo logo) upon request. See the TüBus guidelines to check on which routes you can take your bike with you.

For more information on the Tübingen night bus and its services, see their website:
www.svtue.de/linienverzeichnis-nacht

THE TÜBINGEN NACHT-SAM
The Tübingen Nacht-SAM (Nacht-Sammeltaxi) is a nighttime shared taxi service which runs at night and which you can call to take you from one bus stop to another or, if you live outside the city center, right to your doorstep. The Nacht-SAM runs from 22:00 – 06:00 within the Tübingen area. The bus leaves the town center, Lustnau, and Derendingen on the hour and half-hour; it leaves Weiheim, Kilchberg, Bühl, Hirschau, Unterjesingen, Bebenhausen, Pfrondorf, Hagelloch at quarter past the hour and half-hour; it leaves Weilheim, Kilchberg, Bühl, Hirschau, Unterjesingen, Bebenhausen, Pfrondorf, Hagelloch at quarter past the hour, and half-hour; it leaves Weilheim, Kilchberg, Bühl, Hirschau, Unterjesingen, Bebenhausen, Pfrondorf, Hagelloch at quarter past the hour and half-hour; it leaves Weilheim, Kilchberg, Bühl, Hirschau, Unterjesingen, Bebenhausen, Pfrondorf, Hagelloch at quarter past the hour, and half-hour; it leaves Weilheim, Kilchberg, Bühl, Hirschau, Unterjesingen, Bebenhausen, Pfrondorf, Hagelloch at quarter past the hour and half-hour; it leaves Weilheim, Kilchberg, Bühl, Hirschau, Unterjesingen, Bebenhausen, Pfrondorf, Hagelloch at quarter past the hour, and half-hour; it leaves Weilheim, Kilchberg, Bühl, Hirschau, Unterjesingen, Bebenhausen, Pfrondorf, Hagelloch at quarter past the hour and half-hour; it leaves Weilheim, Kilchberg, Bühl, Hirschau, Unterjesingen, Bebenhausen, Pfrondorf, Hagelloch at quarter past the hour, and half-hour; it leaves Weilheim, Kilchberg, Bühl, Hirschau, Unterjesingen, Bebenhausen, Pfrondorf, Hagelloch at quarter past the hour and half-hour; it leaves Weiheim, Kilchberg, Bühl, Hirschau, Unterjesingen, Bebenhausen, Pfrondorf, Hagelloch at quarter past the hour

The Nacht-SAM takes you:
• from one collective point to another (within town center)
• from a collective point to your doorstep (outside town center)
• from your doorstep (outside town center) to a collective point (in town center)
• from one doorstep (outside town center) to another (outside town center)

The Nacht-SAM collective points in the town center are:
SAM 1 bus stop Nonnenhaus
SAM 2 Faulnes Eck (outside the Hospiz, Neckarhalde)
SAM 3 Krumme Brücke
SAM 4 bus stop Uni/Neue Aula

Upon request, the driver will accompany you to the door. Rides cost 8.20€ for adults, 5.80 € for students with a travel pass, and 5.10 € for children.

TAG-SAM
The “Tag-SAM” (Tag-Sammeltaxi) is an additional service provided by the Tübingen public transport authority. The shared taxi service operates within regular bus hours and is part of the fixed route services (for Tübingen city center and suburbs), it is marked “R9.” The Tag-SAM costs the same as a regular bus ride. However, smart or naldoCards are usually not accepted for technical reasons; also drivers cannot issue four-ride tickets, day tickets, or naldo tickets. Upon request, they can give you a receipt for a single-ride ticket though, which you can use to switch into a bus or train within the Tübingen city area.

Tag-SAM and Nacht-SAM travel is subject to further conditions.

For more information, go to:
www.svtue.de/sam

Please call at least 30 minutes ahead of your desired journey with the Tag-/Nacht-SAM. The number is +49 7071 34000.
STUDENT SELF-GOVERNMENT

STUDENT UNION
All students at the University of Tübingen – including yourself – are members of the student union! The student union is a legal and self-governing body.

Its responsibilities include:
• representing the subject-related, multidisciplinary, social, economic, and cultural interests of students
• representing students’ interests regarding university policy
• promoting political education and exchange of views on university policy among students
• promoting gender equality and removing discrimination within the student body

The student union’s central organ is the student council, the so-called “Studierendenrat,” in short “StuRa.” It is funded with the help of membership fees that are part of your study fees. Within the different faculties and subject areas, student representatives organize themselves within the “Fachschaften” (faculty student councils).

THE STUDENT COUNCIL (STURA)
The student council StuRa is the highest statutory body of student self-governance at university. Each year, students elect 21 representatives, some of which are active members in the “Fachschaften” (faculty student councils) and/or members of different student groups concerned with university policy at large. The StuRa administers the membership fees, discusses and examines student concerns, and acts upon them. These issues can range from cultural and civic education, to semester tickets, and tuition fees. Meetings of the student council are open to all students. We would be happy to see you there!

Further information on the StuRa at:

SPONSORSHIP
Students and groups who plan on realizing a project beneficial to the larger student community, can apply to the StuRa for funding. Events and projects worth (financial) support include:
• Lectures and discussion events
• Film screenings (e.g. project “Gleichfilm”)
• Action days and film festivals
• Student-organized seminars (not awarding ECTS credits)
• Cantaloup.fm and Kupferblau
• “Gleichfilm” movie series
• Ract! Festival
• Do you also have an idea? Get in touch!

WORK GROUPS
The StuRa operates in work groups, which are open to all students and deal with a variety of subjects. There are work groups on press and public relations, finance, environment, the Ract! Festival, tuition fees, gender equality, and much more. Students are more than welcome to join in and contribute new ideas.

Contact for StuRa and the work groups:
Studierendenrat, Clubhaus, Wilhelmstraße 30, 72074 Tübingen ga@stura-tuebingen.de

PLENARY MEETINGS AND VOTES
The student council holds regular plenary meetings. All students can and should attend the meetings in order to actively participate in the organization and shaping of university. The faculties and Fachschaften may also convene plenary meetings. They are a grass-roots democratic element of university policy and promote the exchange of information between students and student representatives in the StuRa.

FACULTY STUDENT COUNCILS
Each subject area has its own student council, the “Fachschaft.” The Fachschaft works to promote the interests of students in their respective area of study and represents the larger student body on the faculty boards. The student representatives contribute, for example, to the reformation of existing examination regulations and the advisory services for first semester students. They also organize cultural events, lectures, parties, and fresher’s events.

The faculty student councils are open to all students and always happy to welcome new members. If you are interested in joining or have any questions, go to the next meeting of your Fachschaft.

Once a week, all faculty student councils meet at a plenary meeting, the so-called “Fachschaftenvollversammlung” or FSVV, to discuss study-related questions and issues regarding wider university policy. The meetings take place every Monday evening at 18:00 at the Clubhaus and students are welcome to join!

STUDENT GROUPS AND INITIATIVES
There are a number of groups and initiatives at the University of Tübingen for students to join and become involved in. You can find them at:
www.uni-tuebingen.de/de/109890
The Studium Generale is a free service provided by the University of Tübingen addressed to both students and members of the general public. Here, academics and researchers of various fields and backgrounds give evening lectures and talks on a variety of current, mostly interdisciplinary subjects. All of the lecturers in the Studium Generale series work on a voluntary basis, meaning they offer talks in addition to their other manifold duties and without pay. Oftentimes, they also include distinguished personalities from outside university.

Studium Generale at the University of Tübingen
• seeks a scientific debate over current issues
• deals with key questions of human existence
• offers discussions beyond individual disciplines
• provides information on matters of general interest
• devotes itself to music-, art-, and sports-related activities

The Studium Generale is commissioned by the University of Tübingen Senate and coordinated by a working group headed by the Vice-President for Academic Affairs.

There is a new and varied program every semester. Attendance is free of charge and well worth the experience. You can not only gain valuable insight into your own area of study, but also broaden your horizon. Why not give it a try?

You can find the program for winter semester 2019-20 at:

www.uni-tuebingen.de/en/63

In summer 2009, the student initiative Greening the University e.V. initiated the inter- and transdisciplinary course program Studium Oecologicum. Today, the Studium Oecologicum is coordinated by the International Center for Ethics in the Sciences and Humanities (IZEW) and offered by the Career Service as part of the “Sustainability” courses in the Studium Professionale. It now comprises some 25 courses per semester for students of all subjects.

From the basics of sustainable development, to climate change, future-oriented energy supplies and environmental psychology, to social-ecological city planning and global justice, the Studium Oecologicum offers interactive seminars for discussion of the many faces of sustainability. Learn to analyze the challenges of the present in order to find solutions for a just and ecologically sustainable future! You can also take courses in the Studium Oecologicum to get credit for your “Schlüsselqualifikationen” (key competences) module. Given you take at least three seminars and receive at least 12 ECTS, you can obtain the Studium Oecologicum certificate for basic competency in the field of sustainable design and development.

COMPETITIVE SPORTS
Students and university staff can compete in their disciplines and represent the University of Tübingen at both national and international tournaments, as well as the “Deutsche Hochschulmeisterschaften” (German University Sports Federation). Students can also qualify for the international European or World University Championships. Our sports department is responsible for the area “Competitive Sports” and helps with tournament registration and organizational matters (journey, etc.). In addition, students who participate in tournaments also receive funding. For more information, talk to the relevant student advisors at our department.

sportreferat@uni-tuebingen.de

OPEN SPORT AND TRAINING
If they wish, students can meet for casual play and sporting activities in self-organized groups. Competitive sportsmen and athletes also have the opportunity to train without supervision.

STRENGTH AND FITNESS ROOM, CLIMBING WALL
The Institute of Sports Science on Alberstraße has a strength and fitness room with an integrated climbing area. In the strength and fitness area, we offer supervised courses in strength training and climbing; however, students also have the option to train without supervision in the strength and fitness room and in the climbing area. In order to use the strength and fitness area, students have to sign up for a membership and pay a given fee. The membership is valid for the period of one semester and there are no inconvenient periods of cancellation. You can register at the University Sports Center or online.

THE PROGRAM
Our extensive program is able to meet the current needs of students and staff because of the tremendous commitment of our full-time staff. We offer practical courses to impart knowledge and social skills in over 400 university sports classes. Every week, courses are organized and supervised in more than 40 sports by more than 300 qualified instructors. Our work also helps volunteers to gain qualifications. In addition to courses guided by an instructor, you can also organize your own sporting activities. The facilities of the Institute of Sports Science are available for this purpose. The University Sports Center courses are published on the website two weeks before the start of the semester. They are for students and employees of the university; you must register and pay for them (www.hsp.uni-tuebingen.de).

You can register for semester courses online a week before the start of semester.

EXCURSIONS
All excursions (skiing, canoeing, climbing, etc.) are learning and teaching courses. This means you will not only get to know a new sport, but also experience nature and new physical challenges in a group of like-minded peers.

WORKSHOPS
We offer many interesting, high-quality workshops. Our instructors, especially in dance and yoga, include respected teachers from all over Europe, the United States, and Latin America. We also invite guest lecturers to talk about preventative healthcare and stress management.

The Collegium Musicum is the university’s music society and offers, as part of the Studium Generale, students an extensive program for musical development. Besides the musical work for our ensembles, we offer courses, lectures, and special events that complement your practical work with in-depth theory. The Collegium Musicum comprises three ensembles: a choir, a chamber choir, and an orchestra.

ACADEMIC CHOIR
The “Akademische Chor” (academic choir) commonly presents oratory works whether it be in collaboration with the academic orchestra or professional ensembles. Prospective choir members must pass an audition (easy and challenging voice exercises, an easy phrase to sing from the sheet). Information on rehearsal times and concerts is available at: www.uni-tuebingen.de/en/4015

CAMERATA VOCALIS
The Camerata Vocalis is a chamber choir which primarily sings challenging a-Capella pieces. You must have a good voice, be able to sight-read, and be willing to learn the repertoire independently. For further information and the current rehearsal plan, see: www.uni-tuebingen.de/en/4007

ACADEMIC ORCHESTRA
The “Akademische Orchester” (academic orchestra) consists of around 90 musicians, who play musically challenging and ambitious programs. Their repertoire largely includes purely symphonic pieces with a focus on the Romantic period. Since the orchestra cooperates with the academic choir, however, the program occasionally also includes oratorios. The audition for the academic orchestra consists of two pieces of your choice (slow and fast, approx. 10 minutes in total) and part of a piece from the current program (which you prepared in advance).

Want to participate? Contact us via one of the following emails to register for auditions (voice and instrument): akademisches.orchester@uni-tuebingen.de; akademischer.chor@uni-tuebingen.de.

Where possible, times for auditions should be arranged prior to the start of semester.

SCHOLA CANTORUM
The Schola Cantorum at the Institute of Music Science is headed by Professor Dr. Stefan Johannes Morent and focuses on Gregorian Chants, monophonic Latin liturgical songs of the Roman Church, and other forms of medieval ecclesiastic music. During the semester, the Schola Cantorum rehearses every week and regularly contributes to church services or smaller concerts. Male singers with singing experience who are interested in joining should contact: Professor Dr. Stefan Johannes Morent

KULTURREFERAT CONCERTS
For over 60 years, the University of Tübingen’s “Kulturreferat” (Culture Office) has been working with the Museumsgesellschaft Tübingen e. V. and the city of Tübingen to organize classical concerts at the university’s Festsaal (banquet hall) and at the former monastery of Bebenhausen. Some 25 classical concerts with outstanding international orchestras and solo artists are performed in three musical programs every year.

While the winter season concerts (October – April) and the International Pianist Festival concerts (May) are held in the Festsaal in the Neue Aula, the summer concerts (June – July) are traditionally held at the monastery of Bebenhausen.

Students who buy their tickets in advance receive a discount of 50 %. Prior to the start of concerts, students may purchase any leftover tickets for just 9 € (Last-Minute-Tickets).

THE UNIVERSITY MUSEUM AND ITS COLLECTIONS

The Museum of the University of Tübingen (MUT) is the university’s central institution and (virtual) home of some 70 collections. The MUT aims to organize scientific collections in an adequate and responsible manner and preserve them for future generations, research and education purposes. The museum’s main concern lies with promoting scientific exchange and discourse; various regional, national and international cooperations in the form of exhibitions, public events, research, publications, and teaching programs, such as the Master profile “Museum & Sammlungen,” ensure its realization. You can get a free booklet, which is also available in English and includes current information on all university collections, at different places. The MUT website also provides information, links, and further details on opening hours, guided tours, exhibitions, and individual collections. You can also follow us on Facebook! For updates and the newest information, visit: www.unimuseum.de

ANCIENT CULTURES

The MUT | Ancient Cultures in Schloss Hohentübingen (Tübingen Castle) is the most visited museum in Tübingen; it comprises collections of various archaeological and cultural disciplines and shows a number of globally unique exhibits.

Admire mankind’s oldest figurative art pieces: the 16 ivory mammoths which date back more than 40,000 years (Ice Age) and were selected and the history of psychology as a discipline. The exhibition proofs how deceptive our senses can be.

MIND & SHAPE: THE MATHEMATICS COLLECTION

The exhibition presents models and portraits of the discipline’s most recognized and influential minds, the majority of which were created between 1875 and 1884 in Munich under the supervision of Alexander von Brill and Felix Klein. Computer-generated pictures created between 1875 and 1884 in Munich under the supervision of Alexander von Brill and Felix Klein. THE CASTLE AND ITS HIGHLIGHTS

The Tübingen castle (das Schloss) is not only home to rare exhibits but also to the “Riesenfass” (Great Tübingen Tun), the oldest giant wine cask in the world. The observatory at the castle is one of the few places in the world where you can see the “Reichenbachische Doppelkreise,” a precision instrument designed in the 18th century to measure distance. It was in the castle’s laboratory and former kitchen where Friedrich Miescher discovered Nucleic acids – DNA – in 1869.

EVOLUTION: THE PALEONTOLOGICA COLLECTION

The paleontological collection gives insights into evolution; it shows fossils of past geological eras, including fish, numerous types of dinosaurs and mammal-like reptiles, ammonites, sea lilies and other invertebrate animals.

MATTERS OF THE MIND: THE PSYCHOLOGICAL COLLECTION

The psychological collection consists of historic instruments and medical devices, as well as intelligence and skills tests. It also explains and illustrates optical illusion, haptic phenomenon, fine motor skills, and the history of psychology as a discipline. The exhibition proofs how deceptive our senses can be.

THE UNI ON AIR

The University of Tübingen has two established media channels, CampusTV and Radio Micro-Europa, which give students the chance to gain television and radio experience while still at uni.

CAMPUS TV

The university’s television channel offers an exciting and informative program. Issues surrounding university life are researched and presented in a journalistic manner – from the faculty student councils, to student services, individual research projects, the Career Service, Studium Generale, and major exhibitions. Guided by experienced editorial staff, CampusTV gives students the opportunity to learn the trade in a basic course and to work in the editorial office. While this is particularly helpful to Media Studies students, it is also a valuable experience to students of other disciplines. Undergraduate students may receive ECTS for the “Schlüssequalifikationen” (professional skills) module. By the way, all CampusTV reports are accessible via the Mediathek at www.hd-campus.tv and via our social media channels on Facebook and YouTube! Take a look!

RADIO MICRO-EUROPA: CAMPUS RADIO – NETWORK – STUDIO – UNIRADIO ARCHIVES

Radio Micro-Europa is located at the Center for Media Competence and part of a network of international uni radio stations, which was founded in 2008 as part of an EU project.

The concept: the reports and programs arise from seminars and final projects in both Bachelor and Master programs, giving students of very different disciplines the chance to process and present their topics in the media and gain valuable professional experience. Journalists at the University of Tübingen is not only focused on classic radio work; it also follows and supports cross-media principles.

The Radio Micro-Europa reporters present their work in film and photography, on the Micro-Europa homepage, and in the social networks.

You can access radio shows via the University Library Mediathek. We cooperate with: Freies Radio Wüste Welle (Tübingen), SWR (Studio Tübingen and Stuttgart), Neckaralb Live (Reutlingen), the University of Applied Sciences (HAW, Hamburg), the Jazzclub Tübingen e.V. and the Institut des hautes études des communications sociales (IHECS, Brussels).

LITERATURE AND ART

The University of Tübingen has plenty to offer when it comes to literature and art. Learn to draw at the Zeicheninstitut, write and perform with the Studio Literatur und Theater (SLT), or attend the Tübingen Poetik-Dozentur.

Creative writing, literary discussion, reading and talking to great authors are only some of the things available to you via the SLT and the Poetik-Dozentur.

STUDIO LITERATUR UND THEATER

The Studio Literatur und Theater (SLT) provides, along with the Collegium Musicum and the Zeicheninstitut, artistic training. Courses focus on the diverse forms of non-academic writing and are open to students of all disciplines. We run seminars on prose, poetry, descriptive writing, etc., and invite guest lecturers to help you expand your horizons. Our teachers are regular authors and professionals from the worlds of theater, publishing, and the media. While the focus clearly is on developing your own creative writing, you will also learn techniques to realize and present your thoughts more efficiently.

On the stage, in the broadcasting studio, or at the podium – whatever it is you are working on, we will give you the chance to put your work to the test and present it in front of an audience.

The SLT cooperates with Tübingen theaters, the Hölderlingesellschaft, and the SWR. The events are selected according to individual interest and inclination. All SLT seminars can get you credit for the "Schlüsselqualifikationen" (key competences) module. Students of Rhetoric may also receive course credit for their practical seminars. Furthermore, the SLT cooperates with Tübingen theaters, the Hölderlingesellschaft, and the SWR. The events are selected according to individual interest and inclination.

TÜBINGEN WRITERS’ LECTURESHIP (POETIK-DOZENTUR)

The Tübingen Writers’ Lectureship offers students, University members and the public the opportunity to get to know outstanding authors from Germany and abroad and to talk to them. In doing so, it initiates and intensifies university dialogue across disciplinary boundaries and invites cultural exchange between University and the town, and between the University and the wider region. Once a year, usually in the winter semester, two authors are invited to give lectures and offer workshops for University students (seminars or writing workshops). Closely linked to the Tübingen Writers’ Lectureship is the Würth Literature Prize, which is announced by the Poetics Lecturers at the end of the Lectureship. The Tübingen Writers’ Lectureship is sponsored by the Würth Foundation and Adolph Würth GmbH & Co. KG in Künzelsau. Since 1996 the Tübingen Writers’ Lectureship has been organized by the Institute of German Language and Literature of Tübingen University, since 2005 by Prof. Dr. Dorothee Kimmrich.

ZEICHENINSTITUT

The “Zeicheninstitut” (art school) is a free service provided by the University for all students interested in developing their artistic skills. In some 20 courses you can learn to paint, draw, sculpt, or take high-quality photographs. The courses also include lectures on contemporary art and presentations by young local artists. Guided tours through current exhibitions at the Kunsthalle Tübingen are also part of the mostly practice-oriented program at the Zeicheninstitut. Individual consultation is also available, and there are no prerequisites for participation.

You can find the program at:

ALMA: name of the new online system; replaces the Campus portal in summer semester 2020.

ALUMNI: (lat. pl. of alumnus = pupil) term used in academia to describe former students of an institution of higher education.

AUDIUMAX: short form of “Auditorium maximum;” refers to the university’s central lecture hall. The Tübingen Audimax is located in the Neue Aula, Geschwister-Scholl-Platz (first floor), opposite the Festsaal (banquet hall).

BACHELOR: the Bachelor is a basic degree at university level, which usually takes three years to be completed. There are mono-bachelor programs (entails one subject) or combination bachelor programs (entails a major and a minor subject). The Bachelor-Master system strives to guarantee uniformity of academic standards across Europe in order to facilitate international comparison. The Bachelor is the first undergraduate degree students may obtain throughout their studies. The “Bachelor of Arts” (B.A.) refers to a degree obtained in the Humanities; its equivalent in the Sciences is the “Bachelor of Science” (B. Sc.).

BAFOG (GERMAN STUDENT ALLOWANCE): German students may apply for financial support under the German Federal Training Assistance Act. The responsible officers at the “Amt für Ausbildungsförderung” (Office for Educational Support) at the Studierendenwerk Tübingen-Hohenheim are happy to help with applications.

BLOCKVERANSTALTUNG/SEMINAR (INTENSIVE COURSE): an intensive course/seminar, the course content is not taught in weekly sessions, but rather in one go (usually over the course of a weekend).

C.T.: (lat. cum tempore = with time) refers to the so-called “academic quarter (hour),” which means a class or lecture starts quarter past the full hour. Classes to which this applies are marked c.t. in the course catalog, for example.

CAMPUS PORTAL: this is the university’s online portal for academic affairs. The system allows students to digitally organize their studies (set up a timetable, register for exams, etc.).

CHIPKARTE (STUDENT ID/CHIP CARD): after enrollment, students at the University of Tübingen receive a personal student ID card (chip card). It is the size of a credit card and has an integrated chip containing user information and the current cash balance. The card is primarily proof of your enrollment at the University of Tübingen. However, it also functions as your library card and allows you to borrow books (you can check them out yourself). You can also use it as cashless payment card to pay for food and drinks at the university canteens and cafeterias. In certain cases, the card may also function as a key to restricted access areas. Moreover, your chip card can also be used to pay for photocopies and print services on campus; it is compatible with all student copy machines.

Make sure you always have enough credit on your card. You can top up at the following terminals:

CURRICULUM: (lat. = course) refers to the syllabus of a degree program; it defines content, objectives, methods, and organizational structures of the program.

DAAD: the “Deutsche Akademische Austauschdienst” (German Academic Exchange Service) is a joint institution of universities and other institutions of higher education across Germany. It organizes and funds the academic exchange of students and researchers around the world, arranges work placements for academic staff, supports artists and interns, informs other countries about German institutions of higher education, and invites hundreds of alumni to seminars every year. The DAAD promotes exchanges via international programs and projects, including scholarships.

DEKAN (DEAN): the Dean is the head of a faculty and represents its interests; the “Dekanat” (Dean’s Office) manages the faculty. All faculties also have a Vice-Dean for Academic Affairs, who is responsible for ensuring that teaching is comprehensive and in line with study and exam regulations. Together with the subject advisors, he also advises students in all study-related matters.

DEKANAT (DEAN’S OFFICE): the central management and administration of a faculty. It is headed by the Dean, who is elected for a period of six years. The Dean’s deputy is the Vice-Dean (“Vize-Dekan”).

DEZERNAT (DIVISION): the main organizational units within university administration; each unit has different administrative responsibilities and functions. The Division for Academic Affairs, for instance, is responsible for the strategic and conceptual direction of student affairs and studies. It includes the sections: Degree Planning and Development, Center for Academic Advanced Training, Center for Teaching and Learning, and Career Service, as well as the Diversity-oriented Writing Center and Studio Literatur und Theater.

DIES ACADEMICUS/DIES UNIVERSITAS: an academic “holiday” that commonly involves a series of special events. The university’s Dies Academicus also includes the official welcome ceremony for freshers.

DIPLOMA SUPPLEMENT (DS): upon graduation, students receive a diploma certificate and the “Diploma Supplement;” a document in both English and German which provides information on the university and their program of study. The DS lists your study and qualifications profile to facilitate and promote international academic and professional mobility. Individual grades and scores are listed in your “Notenspiegel” (Transcript of Records).

DIVERSITÄTSORIENTIERT (DIVERSITY-ORIENTED): focusing on diversity in terms of diversity management. Diversity management refers to a socio-political strategy taking into account social and cultural variations within society, acknowledging them in a respectful way, and using them constructively. Within the university-context, diversity-oriented approaches seek to provide individualized student support by taking students’ specific needs and interests into account.

DOZENT/IN (LECTURER): a teacher at a university.

ECTS: the European Credit Transfer and Accumulation System (ECTS) ensures inter/national recognition and transferability of coursework. The uniformity of documentation makes it easier to study abroad or change universities. The workload is comprised of in-class time, preparation time of class material, individual study time, and exam time; one ECTS credit point is worth 30 hours of work. Each semester, students must obtain a total of 30 ECTS, which is equivalent to an average workload of 900 hours per semester, or 1,800 hours per year. While Bachelor degree programs comprise a total of 180-240 ECTS, Masters degrees comprise 60-120 ECTS. The number of obtainable ECTS in each subject were primarily set to protect students from a work overload.

ERSTSEMESTER/”ERSTI” (FRESHER): a student in the first semester of his/her studies.

EXCURSION: serves to consolidate knowledge acquired in class outside the classroom. Excursions may include single-day journeys, longer trips within Germany, or even trips abroad. In some study programs, students are required to go on a set number of excursions in order to receive course credit.

EXMASSTEORIE: (masstheory) refers to a student assistant at university.

FACHBEREICH (DEPARTMENT): an organizational unit responsible for a subject or a related group of subjects.

FACHSCHAFEN (FACULTY STUDENT COUNCILS): colloquial term for student representatives in a given subject area, who work to promote student interests, organize subject-specific events, maintain contact with other disciplines, and influence university policy-making. Faculty student councils are not elected; they are open to all students interested in joining.

FAKULTÄT (FACULTY): basic academic unit at university; a faculty comprises academic/teaching staff, students, administrative staff, and others. It is managed and represented by the Dean, who is also a member of the faculty board.

FAKULTÄTSRAAT (FACULTY COUNCIL): the highest decision-making body at a faculty. The faculty council is headed by the Dean and made up of representatives of the research and teaching staff, the non-academic staff, and students. Professors, however, have an absolute majority of votes; if they all agree, they can overrule the other parties on any given matter. The faculty council deals with important questions regarding the faculty as a whole (e.g. study and exam regulations, distribution of funds, decisions on habilitations). In some cases, the senate or relevant state ministry has to approve its decisions.

HAUSARBEIT (TERM PAPER): written work that is usually part of a course assessment. Seminars often require students to work independently on a single topic, write a paper on it, and present their results in the form of a presentation. By completing such assignments, students show that they can work academically.

ILIAS: German acronym for “Integrative Learning, Information, and Work Cooperation System.” ILIAS is the university’s online learning management system, which is used to provide students with learning and course material.

EXMATRIKULATION (TERMINATION OF ENROLLMENT): formal termination of enrollment. If you have completed your studies, change universities, or don’t want to continue your studies, you must terminate your enrollment. Before you can do so, however, you must meet any pending obligations you might have towards the university. You will receive written confirmation of your termination of enrollment; this document is the prerequisite for studying at another university. Student Administration can also terminate your enrollment, e.g. if you do not pay the tuition fees (in-time).

FAKULTÄTSVORSTAND (FACULTY BOARD): consists of a faculty’s Dean and various Vice-Deans, including the “Prodekan” (Executive-Vice-Dean) and the “Studien dekan” (Vice-Dean of Academic Affairs).

HIWI: refers to a student assistant at university.

ILAS: German acronym for “Integrative Learning, Information, and Work Cooperation System.” ILIAS is the university’s online learning management system, which is used to provide students with learning and course material.

ERSTSEMESTER/”ERSTI” (FRESHER): a student in the first semester of his/her studies.

EXCURSION: serves to consolidate knowledge acquired in class outside the classroom. Excursions may include single-day journeys, longer trips within Germany, or even trips abroad. In some study programs, students are required to go on a set number of excursions in order to receive course credit.
IMMATRIKULATION (Enrollment): this is the basis for your membership at university and student status. Some degree programs are restricted meaning you cannot enroll for them unless you have officially been admitted into the program. Other degree programs do not have any special admission requirements or restrictions; this means you can simply go to Student Administration to enroll in the program.

INSTITUT (Institute): an academic institution at a faculty or faculty which organizes study programs, conducts research, or teaches in its field or subject; sometimes also referred to as a “Seminar.” Institutes often house subject-specific libraries, classrooms, offices, and secretaries’ or management offices.

KANZLER (Executive Vice-President): administrative head of a university.

KARTERMINALS (Card Terminals): once you have re-enrolled for a new semester, you can go to one of the self-service card terminals on campus to validate and update your student ID (chip card) and have the current semester information printed on it. You can also get an overview of the data stored on the chip card. Card terminals are available at the following locations: anteroom of Student Administration (Wilhelmstraße 13, ground floor, Monday – Friday 07:30 – 18:00), University Library (Monday – Friday 08:00 – 24:00, Saturday/Sunday 10:00 – 22:00), and Hörsaalzentrum Morgenstelle (exit Botanic Garden, Monday – Friday 06:00 – 20:00).

KOLLOQUIUM (Colloquium): an academic discussion among experts; may also refer to specific types of oral exams, where e.g. doctoral candidates talk about their research and academic work.

KOMMILITON/INN/EN (FELLOW STUDENTS): Germans use the expression “Kommilitone” for a (male) person they study with or in its field or subject; sometimes also referred to as a synonym for a professor and all of his/her research assistants.

KONSEKTIVER STUDIENGANG (Consecutive Degree Program): refers to every degree program that can be studied directly after a Bachelor’s degree and which does not require further professional experience; most Master programs are consecutive programs as they build on the knowledge acquired throughout a Bachelor’s degree.

LEHRSTUHL (Professorial Chair): a regular professorial position at university, which includes provision of financial means and staff to teach and conduct research. The term “chair” is often used as a synonym for a professor and all of his/her research assistants.

LEHRVERANSTALTUNGEN (Courses): over the course of your studies, you will attend a variety of different types of classes – lectures, where you sit and listen, and practical work, where you have to work independently or actively engage with others. The different types of classes at the University of Tübingen include: excursions, colloquiaums, practical work, repetitions, seminars, tutorials, exercises, and lectures.

MASTERSTUDIENGANG (Master’s Degree Program): a Master’s degree usually requires prior study at the Bachelor’s level or an equivalent qualification (Magister, Diploma, State Exam), either as a separate degree or as part of an integrated course. A consecutive Master’s degree program builds on the content of a Bachelor’s degree and can be studied without professional experience; most Master programs at the University of Tübingen are consecutive programs. Continuing education Master’s degree programs require professional experience as well as a first degree. The content of a continuing/education Master’s degree program takes this experience into account and builds upon it. The Master’s degree is conferred after a one- or two-year program of study and is an additional, second academic degree. Depending on the type of program, Master’s degrees can lead toward greater in-depth academic specialization or interdisciplinary qualification. A Master of Arts (M.A.) is a degree in the humanities; its equivalent in the sciences is the Master of Science (M.Sc.).

MÄRZ (March): in the German academic calendar, March is a month full of important events and deadlines. It is a good idea to keep an eye on the deadlines for applications, registration, and other important dates.

MENSULA: the student canteen at a German university.

MODUL (Module): a teaching unit in a Bachelor’s or Master’s degree program; it comprises a given number of classes on a common theme within the subject area and often takes one or two semesters to be completed. Each part of a module, including preparation time, independent study, an oral or written assignment, is awarded a set number of credit points. The number of ECTS points students receive depends on the estimated workload.

MODULHANDBUCH (Module Handbook): module handbooks specify the profile of a degree program and its modules. They contain detailed information on all the modules in a degree in terms of content and course requirements, number of allocated credit points, study goals, average length of study, workload, and intervals in which units are offered. Module handbooks outline the theoretical and practical skills and knowledge students are expected to have acquired by the time they graduate; ideally, they give insight into what students are capable of when it comes to working in a given or related subject area. Module handbooks may also contain more general information about a program. They are an important source of information for students and should be available online.

N.N. (Nomen Nominiendum): indicates a person is still to be appointed; you can see this in the course catalog when it is not clear yet who will be teaching the class.

ORIENTIERUNGSPRÜFUNG (Orientation Examination): orientation exams ensure students have learned the basics of their chosen undergraduate degree program within their first year of studies. They should also allow you to critically and honestly assess your choice of studies. Orientation exams usually take place at the end of your second semester. If you have not completed the necessary modules and passed your orientation exam by the end of your third semester, you will lose your right to be examined in your chosen degree program and will not be able to continue your studies in Tübingen or at another university in Germany! Please talk to your subject advisors, the faculty’s examinations office, or central Student Administration if you struggle to meet the deadline, so they can help you find a solution. The examinations office may extend the deadline if you can provide valid reasons beyond your control for not completing the orientation exam in time. You must apply to the relevant examination board for extension in good time.

ORIENTIERUNGSWOCHE (Orientation Week): each semester, faculties, faculty student councils, and central university institutions jointly organize orientation events for arriving students, which aim to facilitate their arrival in Tübingen and help them find their way around university. During these events, students can get advice on setting up their timetable, get information on the structure and further progression of their program, meet teaching staff, and benefit from the experience and tips of academic staff and students of higher semesters.

PD: abbr. for “Privatdozent,” i.e. an academic with a post-doctoral qualification (habilitation), who is allowed to work and teach independently at university, but who is not a regular professor.

PFLICHTMODUL (Compulsory Module): compulsory modules teach material central to your subject. The study and exam regulations define which of the modules you must take in order to be admitted to your final exams at the end of your studies.

PRAXIKUR (Internship): a practical training period (often guided by a mentor) designed to give a first insight into working life, test one’s skills, and/or apply previously acquired knowledge. In many subjects, internships are an integral part of the curriculum and compulsory. Some may only run for a few weeks or months, others for an entire year.

PRODEKAN (Vice-Dean): the deputy of the Dean of a faculty.

PROMOTION (Doctorate): doctorates serve to prove someone’s ability to conduct in-depth scientific research and are based on an independent academic work (doctoral thesis) and an oral exam. Based on the doctorate, university awards a doctoral title (academic degree) with an additional Latin designation marking the discipline, e.g.: Dr. med. = Doctor of Medicine, Dr. phil. = Doctor of Philosophy, Dr. rer. nat. = Doctor of Natural Sciences.

www.uni-tuebingen.de
and Master's degrees are divided into a general and special section.
The framework and regulations for a proper course of study. Study formal structure, define exam requirements and procedures, and set ment.
The extension of deadlines and the recognition of exams or assess-exam regulations and, therefore, gives legally binding information on graduation certificates and compile exam statistics.
In some departments, however, students can also register with the faculty's examination office. In other cases, you may experience financial disadvantages with regard to student grants and scholarships, which are often linked to the "Regelstudienzeit."
REKTOR (PRESIDENT): the Rektor is the head of the university and the President's Office, which also includes three Vice-Presidents (responsible for academic affairs, international affairs, and research) and the Executive Vice-President (director of university administration).
REPETITORIUM: (lat. repetere = repeat) a class where you repeat material in preparation for a final exam.
RÜCKMELDUNG (RE-ENROLLMENT): when you re-enroll, i.e. pay the fees for the next semester, you inform the university that you plan to continue your studies in Tübingen. Please make sure you pay your fees during re-enrollment period (15 Jan – 15 Feb for the following summer semester and 01 June – 15 Aug for the following winter semester)! For further information, see the Student Administration website.
SCHREIBZENTRUM (WRITING CENTER): The Writing Center at the University of Tübingen is a service for students, doctoral candidates, and faculty from all subjects. It adheres to an explicit diversity-oriented mission: to advance the individual potential of the students and faculty from all subjects. It adheres to an explicit diversity-oriented mission: to advance the individual potential of the students and faculty from all subjects.
STAATSEXAMEN (STATE EXAM): this is an umbrella term for a variety of degrees at the end of which students must pass a state exam (nationwide standardized exam) to obtain their degree. The study and exam regulations of the respective degree programs are developed by universities and state institutions, such as the Ministry of Justice (Law), or the Ministry of Social Welfare (Medicine, Dentistry, Veterinary Science, Pharmacy). They are published in the Government Gazette.
STUDIERENDENWERK (STUDENT SERVICES): a non-profit organization which cooperates with universities across Germany to provide students with social services and support. It is financed from the revenue generated by student housing, canteens and cafeterias, subsidies from the state of Baden-Württemberg, and the student services fee levied each semester.
STUDIENDKAN (VICE-DEAN FOR ACADEMIC AFFAIRS): the "Studien-dekan" of a faculty is responsible for ensuring a complete and proper selection of courses that is in line with the recommended study and examination regulations. Students have the right to inform the Vice-Dean for Academic Affairs about flaws regarding the implementation of courses and study programs, as well as non-compliance with study and exam regulations. Students may also request that their complaint be discussed in the respective academic committee. You can also see the Vice-Dean for Academic Affairs if you have problems organizing your studies and exams.
STUDIENFACHBERATER (SUBJECT ADVISORS): if you ever struggle with issues and concerns relating to your subject throughout your studies, you can talk to one of the subject advisors at your faculty. They can provide comprehensive and detailed information about the structure, (exam) requirements, and assessment procedures in your subject and help you organize your studies in a self-reliant and appropriate way. The recommended study plan, module handbook, and exam regulations serve as a basis for the counseling sessions.
STUDIENGANG (PROGRAM OF STUDY): a university course which is determined by a set of study and exam regulations; usually ends with some form of assessment(s), e.g. a thesis and/or oral exam.
STUDIENVERLAUFPLAN (STUDY PLAN): this is your road map to a successful completion of your studies; it helps you navigate the often-times overwhelming exam and study regulations, tells you when to take which classes, and gives you an idea of the relevant assessments. It also helps you set up your timetable; of course, some variation is possible. You can find the study plan in your exam regulations (“Besonderer Teil” special section), your module handbook (which provides further detail), and/or your faculty’s website.
STUDIERENDENRAT “StuRa” (STUDENT COUNCIL): the central decision-making body and representative organ of the student union. The StuRa sponsors student projects, promotes civic and cultural education, represents students’ interests, and participates in university policy-making processes. Every year, students elect 21 StuRa representatives, who regularly meet at the Clubhaus. Anyone interested in their work is welcome to join their sessions!

STUDIUM PROFESSIONALE: a course program at the University of Tübingen which allows students to obtain transdisciplinary skills and professional competences. While these skills are useful to students from all disciplines, they are also an integral part of all Bachelor’s degree programs (see “Schlüsselqualifikationen”); this means students should think about which professional skills courses they want to take alongside their studies early on.

TRANSCRIPT OF RECORDS (TOR): the university’s multimedia server; includes recordings of past lectures and the CampusTV programs.

TRANSCRIPT OF RECORDS (TOR): the Transcript of Records is a list of all the classes you have attended and the results of your assessment. It is an essential requirement if you want to have your academic work recognized abroad. International students can use their transcript to have the academic work they did at their home universities recognized in Germany and vice versa.

WORKLOAD: the university allocates credit points for successful completion of a module; these credit points reflect the average workload students must manage in the module. One credit point is worth 30 hours of work.

ZWISCHENPRÜFUNG (INTERMEDIATE EXAMINATION): in the Intermediate Examination, candidates must show that they have met the goals of their degree program up to this point; this means that they have mastered the basic material and methodology and developed an ability to systematically organize their studies, which allows them to successfully complete their studies.
