

Research Seminar in Economics
Program of the Summer Term 2022

- May 03 Alfons Weichenrieder, Universität Frankfurt
Corporate income tax, IP boxes and the location of R&D
- May 17 Georgios Giorgiadis, European Central Bank
Global implications of multi-dimensional US monetary policy normalization
- May 24 Carsten Eckel, LMU München
Supply and demand linkages in exporting multiproduct firms
- May 31 Rüdiger Bachmann, University of Notre Dame
Monopsony makes firms not only small but also unproductive: why east Germany has not converged
- June 14 Johannes Fleck, Federal Reserve Board
Tax and transfer progressivity at the US state level
- June 21 Martin Huber, University of Freiburg
Learning identification of treatment effects in data
- June 28 Charlotte Bartels, DIW Berlin
Born in the land of milk and honey: the impact of economic growth on individual wealth
- July 05 Martin Simmler, Oxford University
Leveraging the playing field: constraints on multinational profit shifting and the performance of national firms
- July 12 Robert Jäckle, Technische Hochschule Nürnberg
Can defaults change behavior when post-intervention effort is required? Evidence from education
- July 19 Margarita Rubio, University of Nottingham
Fiscal and macroprudential policies in a monetary union
- July 26 Alexander Meyer-Gohde, Universität Frankfurt
Backward error and condition number analysis of linear DSGE solution