

As of October 1st, 2024, the University of Tuebingen, Chair of Sociology with specialisation in methods of empirical social research and social stratification (Prof. Dr. Steffen Hillmert), offers the position of a

Research Associate (m/f/d)

(65% position, salary group 13 TV-L, initially for 3 years).

Tasks:

- Regular academic teaching
- Participation in the Chair's research activities
- Work on a PhD project in the field of empirical social research

Requirements:

- University degree in social sciences (MA or equivalent, preferably in sociology)
- Good knowledge of methods of empirical social research and statistical data analysis (including relevant software: Stata, SPSS, or R)
- Interest in topics from the Chair's fields of work (life course, education, work and occupation, social inequality, sociology of science)
- Good English language skills

Please send applications with the usual documents by e-mail to the Chair's secretariat (karin.schlotterer@uni-tuebingen.de) by July 1st, 2024.

The University of Tuebingen is striving to increase the proportion of women in research and teaching and is therefore asking qualified female scientists to apply.

Handicapped applicants will be given preference if equally qualified. The University of Tuebingen is committed to equal opportunities and diversity. It therefore takes individual circumstances into account and asks for relevant information.

For any questions, please contact Prof. Dr. Steffen Hillmert (steffen.hillmert@uni-tuebingen.de) or the Chair's secretariat (karin.schlotterer@uni-tuebingen.de; Tel.: +49 7071 29-76892).

The appointment will be made by the central administration of the University of Tuebingen.