Building Bridges and Going Beyond

The University of Tübingen is committed to finding solutions to the complex challenges of our globalized world. With excellent research and first-class teaching, we aim to shape the future – to the benefit of our region, the environment, and the global society as a whole.

In order to achieve this, we like to go beyond: in interdisciplinary cooperations, we cross the boundaries between faculties and subjects, just as we transcend national borders in our numerous collaborations with partners all over the world in order to enhance both research and teaching. Teaching in Tübingen also means to introduce students to research, and we want to build bridges between basic research and application, from the University to non-university research institutions as well as from academia to business and society. Thus, the crossing of boundaries and the building of strong networks are at the core of the University of Tübingen's success – we know that we can successfully tackle central issues of our time only in cooperation. To achieve this goal, we have to be open to new ideas and ready to adapt. As a consequence, we continue to develop new disciplines, attract outstanding researchers, and offer state-of-the-art study programs.

This brochure provides a brief overview of the key facts and figures of our University with regard to our staff and students, research, budgets, and our manifold partnerships. It demonstrates in a nutshell why the University of Tübingen is a highly respected research university with an excellent reputation and a sought-after partner.

Networks and alliances:

CIVIS

In “CIVIS – A European Civic University”, Tübingen has formed an alliance with ten other European research universities. The partners work together with the aim of promoting international study programs and student exchanges, involvement in civil society and cooperation with Africa and the Middle East.

The Guild

The Guild comprises 21 leading research-intensive universities from across Europe that are committed to expanding our knowledge for the benefit of society, culture and economic growth. The partners aim to engage with policy makers, enhance public debate and collaborate with private and public institutions to solve global problems.

Matariki

The Matariki Network connects seven universities from Europe, North America and Oceania under the joint vision of “Partnering for a better world.” The partners strive for greater exchange among researchers and students, they initiate cooperative programs and projects and promote social responsibility locally and globally.
