

Ghada Ahmed

The Habit of Coding: Towards Enhancing Introductory Programming

In today's digital world, coding skills are crucial, yet introductory programming courses often struggle with high dropout rates. This talk explores how user-centered learning environments and fostering a "habit of coding" can motivate students and improve learning outcomes.