

The LEAD Graduate School & Research Network
and the
Hector Research Institute of Education Sciences and Psychology present the 7th annual

TÜBINGEN SUMMMER SERIES ON PERSONALITY PSYCHOLOGY

July 16 to July 19, 2019
Room 204, Europastraße 6

Tuesday, July 16, 17:00

Brent Roberts (University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign)

Update on the Credibility Crisis in Social Science and its Relevance to Educational Research

Wednesday, July 17, 11:00

Fani Lauermann (TU Dortmund)

Pathways Towards Math-Related Careers: Interrelations between Academic Motivations and Career Choices

Wednesday, July 17, 14:00

Nathan Kuncel (University of Minnesota)

Expanding Academic Success Beyond Grades: The Role of Cognitive and Personality Characteristics

Thursday, July 18, 11:00

Kevin Hoff (University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign)

Developmental Changes in Personality and Interests Predict Career Success: Two Longitudinal Studies

Thursday, July 18, 14:00

Rodica Damian (University of Houston)

The Prospective Role of Life Experiences in Personality Development, Career Success, and Well-Being

Friday, July 19, 11:00

Kou Murayama (University of Reading)

A Reward-Learning Framework of Autonomous Knowledge Acquisition: An Integrated Account of Curiosity, Interest, and Intrinsic-Extrinsic Rewards

Friday, July 19, 13:00

Lex Borghans and Trudie Schils (Maastricht University)

Is There a Rise in Socioemotional Skills and Their Labor Market Returns?