

Neutrino Oscillations: Past, Present and Future

Prof. Dr. Achim Stahl, Physikzentrum, RWTH Aachen

After a quick review of the current experimental situation on neutrino oscillations, I will focus on the newest experiments. A new generation of reactor neutrino experiments is just starting and T2K has published its first results. I will discuss these results and sketch a possible future experiment (LENA) in Europe.