The E-Learning Support Center (ESC)

The university library operates multiple ILIAS platforms as well as the E-Learning Support Center (ESC) on behalf of the Informations-, Kommunikations- und Medienzentrum (IKM) of the University of Tübingen. At the ESC you find a modern learning environment, which supports flexible studying and teaching. You can find all the materials that are required for your studies in the learning platforms ILIAS or Moodle.

The learning management systems

ILIAS is a powerful learning platform which is very popular amongst universities in German-speaking countries. The university library is currently hosting the following ILIAS platforms:

- Ovidius: Main platform for teaching and organising
  - LMS Public: an open platform for projects and open courses
  - ILIAS Klausuren: Exam platform for e-exams at site
- In Ovidius students can find their course materials from lectures and seminars. Teachers find effective tools for administration, communication, and cooperation as well as an anonymised overview of their students' learning progress.

Users log in with their university account: <https://ovidius.uni-tuebingen.de>

The learning management systems allow you to:

- Upload and access materials (Text, Images, Video, Audio) in password-protected courses,
- Submit homework assignments in digital form
- Undertake formative and summative assessment through test and exercise objects,
- Integrate content such as blogs, wikis, learning modules,
- Give feedback and gather audience responses via smartphone or computer,
