

STAFF WEEK 2026

Visit Tübingen

©iStock.com/peopleimages.com

How to get here?

✈ Step 1 — Arrive at the Airport

The best choice when flying into Germany for Tübingen is: Airport Stuttgart. You could also fly into major hubs like Frankfurt, Munich, or Zurich and then continue to Stuttgart by train, but Stuttgart is usually easiest.

🚌 Step 2 — Stuttgart Airport → Tübingen

🚌 Option A Direct Airport Bus (Recommended)

- Take the Airport Sprinter bus line 828 directly to Tübingen central bus station (ZOB). This is the easiest public transport option with no changes. Bus stop is located near the arrival level/airport bus terminal. It's a short walk from the arrival exits and is part of the Stuttgart Airport Bus Terminal (SAB), which is located between Flughafenstraße and Terminal 4, under the large car park P14. You can buy your bus ticket directly from the bus driver once you get on.
- Duration: ~1 hour
- Fare: Around €7–€11 (ticket can typically be bought on board).

DIVISION III – Academic Affairs

Department 1 Planning and Development of Degree Programs

STAFF WEEK 2026

Visit Tübingen

How to get here?

Option B — Train (Via Stuttgart)

- Take an S-Bahn train (S2 or S3) from the airport to Stuttgart Hauptbahnhof (central station).
- Then take a regional train (Deutsche Bahn) from Stuttgart Hbf to Tübingen Hauptbahnhof.
- Total duration: about 1 – 1.5 hours, depending on connections.

Option C — Taxi or Ride Service

- Taxis are available in front of the airport terminals.
- Travel time: approx. 30–40 minutes to Tübingen.
- Fare: ~€70–€100 (higher than bus or train).

Step 3 — Tübingen Central Station → University

Once you're in Tübingen city centre (bus or train station):

Local Bus to the University

- From Tübingen Hauptbahnhof / central bus station you can take local buses (e.g., lines 1, 2, 3, 4, 7, 17.) that stop on bus station “Uni / Neue Aula”.
- Local buses run frequently, and tickets can be bought on board.
- Alternatively, a short walk the central station can also get you to “Uni/Neue-Aula”.

