Degree Program Philosophy B.A. (exam regulation 2013)

Due to Expire on 03/31/2027

The degree program B.A. Philosophy (major and minor) under the “old” exam regulation from 2013 will expire definitively by the end of winter semester 2026/27*. After March 31st in 2027, no course credits can be earned in this degree program any longer. An extension of the deadline is not possible.

This means that by the end of March 2027, all course requirements for this degree program need to be completed in order for the degree in this program to be awarded successfully.

For students majoring in this program this means: Please ensure that you complete all of the modules Phi-BA-01 to PHI-BA-06 during this summer semester 2026 at the latest and meet all the language requirements so that you can complete the final module, including the B.A. thesis and oral exam, in the winter semester of 2026/27.

For personal inquiries please come to my office hours (Mon 9-10 a.m., R. 214. Registration via email: stefan.gerlach@uni-tuebingen.de) with an up-to-date Transcript of Records. Or contact the examinations office: pa@philosophie.uni-tuebingen.de

Kind regards,
Stefan Gerlach
Program advisor B.A. Philosophy

* The deadline is determined by the transitional provision of § 19 from the University of Tübingen's study and examination regulations for the Combination Degree Major Philosophy with academic final examination Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) – “Besonderer Teil” – (2021) in conjunction with § 29 LHG and the University of Tübingen's Corona statute.
