The English Department
Advent Calendar 2026

You love literature and enjoy reading aloud? Join us in counting down the days until Christmas this year with our departmental advent calendar! Starting on December 1st, each day will bring a little piece of holiday cheer in the form of a literary soundbite selected and read by students and staff on the topic of

Christmas and the Natural World

Not sure what to read? Fear not! If you are interested but do not have a specific text in mind, we are here to help you find something delightful.

Reach out by November 25th with your 3-minute piece, or get in touch for suggestions if inspiration has not struck yet.
